HURRICANE RAVAGES BIG AMERICAN TOWNS

THE HIGH COST OF DIPLOMACY

Chile Withdrawing Consulates

Santiago de Chile, Sept. 5.
It is reported that the Chilean Government is shortly issuing instructions for the abolition of all Consulates in the Far East, with the exception of the headquarters at Shanghai and Yokohama.
It is presumed that the decision has been taken on the score of economy.—Reuter.

RECOVERY BATTLE

MR. FORD TO BE GIVEN 24 HOURS

BANKS URGED TO EXTEND CREDIT

Washington, Sept. 5.
Growing appreciation of the difficulties confronting the recovery campaign is felt throughout circles in closest touch with business conditions and it is the general opinion that a big expansion of credit is necessary to keep the prosperity push moving forward.
President Roosevelt is now embarked on a credit expansion policy and he is urging the banks to co-operate to the limit.
A letter from President Roosevelt was read to-day at the convention of the Bankers' Association which is being held in Chicago. In the course of which the President made a specific appeal for the granting of credits for industrial purposes.
The Ford battle with General Hugh Johnson on the code issue witnessed another development to-day, according to a report from Detroit stating that it is understood that Mr. Henry Ford has increased the minimum daily wage of four dollars by eighty cents.—Reuter.

FORD GIVEN 24 HOURS.

Washington, Sept. 5.
President Roosevelt to-day met the Recovery Council and discussed with them the domestic situation.
Mr. Ford, who is still standing out against the motor code is expected to be given at least another twenty-four hours in which to join the movement.—Reuter.

PLANES SENT TO BORDER

AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION

Vienna, Sept. 6.
Seven aeroplanes have left Vienna for Innsbruck to reinforce the troops guarding the Austro-German frontier.
The machines are privately owned as the peace treaties prohibit Austria from employing military aeroplanes.
They are, however, manned by police pilots.—Reuter.
Injured through being knocked down by Dr. L. S. Shim's car in Lee Tung Street, Ho Kwok-hong, aged 7, was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital yesterday.

FAST TOLL OF DAMAGE

DEVASTATION IN TEXAS

CALL SENT FOR TROOPS

New York, Sept. 5.
Reports are pouring in detailing the vast toll of the hurricane which ravaged the Bahamas, Cuba and the coast of Texas.

The town of Brownsville was practically wrecked and thousands were rendered homeless. Hundreds of casualties occurred as a result of falling debris.

The town now stands in the centre of fifty square miles of floods.

Only three buildings are standing at Raymondville.
Many were killed and injured at Harlingen, from where has come a request for troops to preserve order.

San Benito is also reported to have been wrecked.—Reuter.

BAHAMAS REPORT.

London, Sept. 5.
Reporting further on the effect of the hurricane of September 4th, the Officer Administering the Government of the Bahamas says that the hurricane passed westwards through the North West Channel about 35 miles north of Nassau, devastating the settlements at northern end of Eleuthera, which he visited by air.
Property at Harbour Island suffered considerable damage and people have sustained injuries at Bogue, "whither I have sent Doctor but I was relieved to find so little damage considering the violence of gale."—British Wireless.

MR. NORMAN DAVIS IN ENGLAND

Spending Ten Days on Disarmament Talks

London, Sept. 5.
Mr. Norman Davis, American's roving Ambassador, landed at Plymouth to-day.

It is learned that he will be staying in England for ten days prior to proceeding to Geneva via Paris.
In an interview with Reuter, Mr. Davis said there was no change in the attitude of the United States towards disarmament, except that they felt even more keenly the great importance of the success of the Disarmament Conference.—Reuter.

THREE CLEAR GOALS

ROCHDALE DEFEAT HARTLEPOOLS

London, Sept. 5.
In the Northern Section of the Third Division of the Football League to-day, Rochdale defeated Hartlepool by three goals to nil.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

Binghamton, N.Y., Sept. 5.
Twelve were killed and twenty injured to-night in a collision between the Chicago Flier express and a freight train.

Two of the passenger coaches were telescoped.—Reuter.

JUNIOR T.T. RESULT

FAST TIMES BY AMATEUR

A COMPETITOR'S EXTREMES

London, Sept. 5.
The Junior Motor Cycle Tourist Trophy Race open to amateurs was run to-day over the famous difficult mountain course in the Isle of Man which is 226 miles in length.

The race was won by A. Munks on a Velocette machine at 74.14 miles per hour. F. Frith on a Norton being second at an average speed of 72.13 miles per hour, and Mr. Pirie on a Norton was third at 72.03 miles per hour.

Pirie bumped along at a terrific speed for some miles with a flat tyre.

The Competitors number 48 and included undergraduates, professional men, tradesmen, mechanics and one man whose daily occupation is to drive steam roller at three miles per hour.—British Wireless.

ARMY HARBOUR SWIM

CAMPBELL LEADS S.W.B. TO VICTORY

The Army Team Harbour Swim was won this morning by the South Wales Borderers.

No fewer than five of their swimmers finished the course before the arrival of a competitor from any other unit.
The first man home was L/Corporal Campbell, of the S.W.B. whose time was 23 minutes 27 seconds.

L/Corporal Fullager was second in 24 minutes 51.6th seconds. In 24 minutes was followed by H. E. the G. O. C. and Mrs. Borrell and Brigadier Couzens.

AIR-MINDED EUROPE

NEW CROSS-CHANNEL TRAFFIC RECORD

London, Sept. 6.
For the second time this year all records for cross channel air traffic have been broken.
During August 12,035 passengers passed through the Croydon Airport, an increase of nearly 1,000 over the number for July, when a previous record was established.—British Wireless.

N.C.O. HEADS NEW CUBAN GOVERNMENT

CESPIDES RESIGNS

SERGEANT BATISTA NOW COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

LITTLE DISORDER IN REVOLT

Havana, Sept. 5.
The Cespides Government has been swept away in a wave of popular approval of the revolutionary uprising by the lower ranks of the Army and Navy.

The well-organised coup finds an N.C.O. in charge of the country's affairs, Sergeant Batista having been appointed commander-in-chief.

A revolutionary committee of nineteen which was formed, appointed a deputation of five members, who called upon Dr. Cespides y Ortiz at the Presidential Palace and demanded his resignation.

President Cespides accepted the position and resigned after three short weeks' office.

OFFICERS ARRESTED.

Almost complete absence of bloodshed was the feature of the revolutionary, although Sergeant Batista ordered the arrest of all officers in the police, the army and the navy immediately the success of the coup was assured.

The only serious disorder is reported from Santiago de Cuba where the revolution appears to have been used for an excuse to wreak further vengeance upon prominent officials connected with the hated Machado secret police. Four members of the police were murdered by the mob, which looted the armoury.

ROOSEVELT TAKES ACTION

FOUR WARSHIPS SENT TO CUBA

Washington, Sept. 5.
President Roosevelt has returned from his week-end holiday and immediately discussed the Cuban situation with the State Department.

Two United States destroyers, the Sturtevant and the McFarland, have reached Cuba and it is believed that President Roosevelt is prepared to send other warships if it becomes necessary, in addition to the four already despatched.—Reuter.

HURRICANE HAVOC.

THREE HUNDRED DEAD IN CUBA

New York, Sept. 5.
The Cuban Army at Santa Clara reports that three hundred persons were killed in the vicinity of Cristo Bay during the hurricane.—Reuter.

ENGLAND'S FINANCES

LATEST TREASURY RETURNS

London, Sept. 5.
The latest Treasury returns show that the ordinary revenue for the current financial year up to September 2 amounted to £241,157,046. At the corresponding date of last year the amount stood at £231,234,708.
The ordinary expenditure to date for the current year totalled £286,554,616 which is about £33 million less than the total ordinary expenditure at the corresponding date of last year.—British Wireless.

LORD GREY

GRADUALLY LOSING STRENGTH

London, Sept. 5.
Lord Grey of Falloden has not regained consciousness throughout to-day and he is gradually losing strength.—British Wireless.

NEW MINISTER TO CHINA

JAPAN SAID TO BE SUSPICIOUS

ASSOCIATION WITH GENEVA

Tokyo, Sept. 5.
Japanese official circles are said to regard the appointment by the British Government of Mr. Alexander Cadogan as British Minister to China with suspicion.

It is inferred that the appointment of such a man as Mr. Cadogan, who is credited with deep knowledge of the situation in the Far East, following his very close connexion with the League of Nations, indicates a British intention to accelerate technical co-operation between China and Geneva and indirectly to strengthen Anglo-Chinese relations.

In view of this, the impending arrival of Dr. Rajchmann in China and Mr. T. V. Soong's unfriendly attitude towards Japan, the Japanese Government will not change its watchful waiting policy towards China.

Another instance of Japan's concern over the appointment of Dr. Rajchmann as the League of Nations' technical adviser to China, is provided by the decision of the Japanese Foreign Office to send Mr. Sugimura to China. His task is said to be that of investigating whether Dr. Rajchmann's activities in China are really "non-political." Mr. Sugimura may be expected at Shanghai at the end of this month.—Central News Agency.

BRITAIN ATTACKED IN JAPAN

INDIAN AGITATORS' ATTEMPTS

Indian malcontents in Japan who for many years past have striven hard to win the sympathy and support of the Japanese people in their "fight for Indian freedom," have just added three English publications, issued at regular intervals, to their campaign of lecture tours, pamphlets (henceforth almost always in Japanese) and magazine articles.

One of these publications is called "World Federation" and its editor is Mahendra Pratap whose activities during the World War on behalf of the former German Kaiser at Kabul, are well known.

Another is a monthly pamphlet entitled "The New Asia." This is published both in English and Japanese, and proclaims itself as the "organ of the New Asia Association which stands for the complete independence of Asia." Its editor and publisher is Rash Behari Bose, whose terrorist activities in India between the years 1912 and 1915 forced him eventually to flee from India.—Reuter.

The British submarine Oswald, which is expected to arrive here on Saturday from Valparaiso, will be sent to the coast of Chile.

British Industries Fair

EXHIBITORS CLAMOUR FOR SPACE

London, Sept. 5.
Although the next British Industries Fair does not take place until the middle of next February, applications have been received by the Department for Overseas Trade for more than 90 per cent. of the space occupied by exhibitors at Olympia and White City at the last fair.

In the heavy industries section at Birmingham, advance bookings of space by exhibitors are so far ahead of those of last year, and indeed of any previous year, that 65,000 square feet of indoor area are being added immediately to meet the pressing demands.

Special activity is reported in gas, electricity, building and engineering groups.—British Wireless.

CABINET SITS FOUR HOURS

FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND DISARMAMENT

London, Sept. 5.
The Cabinet to-day sat for four hours beginning in the morning and resuming in the afternoon. There was practically a full attendance.
It is understood that foreign affairs and disarmament were the principal subjects under examination. The Prime Minister, who presided, afterwards left for his visit to the King and Queen at Balmoral.—British Wireless.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

CAPT. EDEN TO GO TO PARIS

London, Sept. 5.
The Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Captain Anthony Eden will go to Paris this month for a conversation with the French Government on various points which arose at the Disarmament Conference during the first reading of the British draft convention.

Mr. Norman Davis, the United States Delegate to the Conference will be in London to-morrow and will see Sir John Simon, at the Foreign Office.—British Wireless.

STOCK MARKETS IMPROVE

BRITISH INVESTMENTS CLOSE STRONG

London, Sept. 5.
The stock markets closed better in places. British funds improved with war loan 3½ per cent at 100½, while Home Bonds finished strong, and Kaffirs left off above the worst.—British Wireless.

ANTI-JEW MOVE IN HARBIN

RUSSIANS INSPIRED BY NAZIS

Changchun, Sept. 1.
White Russians in Changchun and Harbin have joined in a war against the Jews.
Inspired by the anti-Jewish activities of the Nazis in Germany, local White Russians have started a campaign to bear in mind their hatred for Jews who they claim were at the head of the Russian Revolution which drove them from their homes.—Reuter.

MOSCOW PLANE CRASH

Eight Killed in Big Disaster

Moscow, Sept. 5.
Five prominent Soviet officials connected with aviation, together with the wife of one of them, and a pilot and a mechanic, were killed to-day in an aeroplane crash near Moscow.—Reuter.

XIXth ARMY RETREAT

REPORT OF FRICTION AMONG LEADERS

FALLING BACK FROM REDS

It was learned this morning that the XIXth Route Army forces engaged against the Reds in the vicinity of Fochow are being pushed back.

The 56th Division is now said to be fortifying Kienningta.

There are rumours that the retirement is largely the result of unfriendly relations between the 56th Division under General Liu Ho-ling, which has been holding Shaiwu, Kienningta and Yeming, and the 2nd (temporarily incorporated) Division under General Lu Hsing-peng, holding Teinglo, Shashien and Yung-an.

Rivalry between them is said to have been intense and it is alleged that as a result of this friction, their resistance to the Communists has not been so vigorous as it might have been.

ISUDZA COMING HERE.

The Japanese cruiser Izudza will arrive in the Colony on Friday next on an informal visit. The warship was to have come to Hongkong last week but in view of the seriousness of the Fukien situation she was diverted to Fochow to watch Japanese interests. She left on Friday last, and has been stationed at Amoy for the last two or three days. The Japanese gunboat Saga will come from Canton to join the Izudza in Hongkong.

NEW DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENT

BRITISH MINISTER AT SOFIA

London, Sept. 5.
The King has graciously been pleased to approve the appointment of Mr. Charles Henry Bentinck, His Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Lima to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Sofia.—British Wireless.

Invest in Afforestation

(Above) Realisation in N. Z. Logging in a New Zealand pine forest.

THE world is using up its timber supply much faster than it is being replenished.

For this reason, the pine (most important of the commercial softwoods) has an assured future.

Afforestation is, therefore, a splendid investment opportunity. In brief, this is what you are offered by N. Z. Perpetual Forests, Ltd.:

For every £30 invested, you become owner of a freehold acre of land, fully planted with pine trees, the title of which is held by The Australasian Bondholders' Trust Co., Ltd., Trustee for Investors. The estimated value of the timber is £250 after approximately 12 years, if marketed as pulpwood. Moreover, you are fully protected as to safety. For further details address

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Baby's Own Tablets, is a construction superintendent. They keep their marriage secret. Dick opposes Eve's continued employment but she is determined to go on working.

On her wedding night Eve is sent to New York to meet FRED CARTELL, dress buyer. There Eve meets THORON HECOX, who is much attracted by her. She visits HENRY PRENTISS, former schoolmate who is playing the stock market. A week later Eve returns to Lake City to find a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, at the office. Eve and Dick take an apartment in an old-fashioned house. Eve becomes nervous from worry and Dick takes her on a week-end trip to the little town of Pankinville. In an antique shop there Eve admires several pieces of furniture. Dick says they can not afford them but when Eve leaves she tells the shop owner she will send for them later.

CHAPTER XIV

Christmas fell on Tuesday that year and Eve was overjoyed when Mr. Barnes said that she could have Monday as a holiday and thus be able to spend Christmas with her parents 500 miles away. Bixby's was open until nine o'clock each evening of the week before Christmas and Eve was obliged to spend at least part of every evening at the office. Dick agreed without objection to come down town to have dinner with her those nights.

Saturday with the last task completed, Eve said goodbye to the others in the office, wished them a Merry Christmas, and left to meet Dick. On their way to the train they posted their marriage announcements to Eve's friends in Lake City. Those for the home folks had been sent a week earlier.

Eve felt a mixture of apprehension and relief after the announcements were mailed. But at least there was nothing to worry about for the present and she boarded the train with a light heart. Tomorrow she would see her parents again and Dick would be with her.

Henry Bayless met them at the station Sunday morning. Eve smiled her father first and gulped as her eyes filled with tears. Then she hurried forward and kissed him while he struggled for composure. Partings and meetings after long separation always affected Henry Bayless. His eyes were blurry and he swallowed hard.

Then he welcomed Dick with a hearty handshake and felt a glow of friendship in that firm clasp. Hank trusted few men until they proved themselves but his instinct told him Dick Rader was all right. It had snowed heavily overnight and Hank drove carefully. He was proud of his new car and boasted to Dick of the number of years he had driven the old one.

The Bayless home was in an old section of the city on a tree-lined street. "Nice here in the summer," said Hank as he drove into the yard. Dick saw a modest house of the seven-room variety with side porch and a low attic over the kitchen. Eve's mother, rosy and smiling, beamed a welcome from the doorway.

Dick felt the spirit of Christmas for which he had long been homesick. He accompanied his father-in-law to the woodshed and helped him nail together a stand for the Christmas tree. Later he helped Eve trim the tree. He put extra leaves in the dining room table to accommodate the guests and when Eve's sister, Esther, arrived with her husband and child, the baby held out her arms to Dick and seemed to prefer him to anyone else. Later, to the child's intense delight, Dick made a snow man.

Eve's grandmother, accompanied by the son with whom she lived, came for dinner. Grandmother Bayless, little, spry and yet always complaining, enjoyed the day enormously. "I have lived a great many years," she said, "but I declare to goodness no one ever surprised me as much as Eve does. That announcement now—coming with a Christmas greeting! 'Twas right odd! I thought to myself, 'That's just like Eve. Seems like you picked out a right nice man, though. I know you must have asked him, he doesn't look as though he was bold enough to ask you.'"

After dinner they all gathered in the old parlour and Esther played the piano while the others sang Christmas carols. Then the gifts were distributed. Dick, who had been alone at Christmas for the last 10 years, was amazed at the unselfish generosity displayed. Accustomed to paying his way and expecting favours from no one, he was touched and pleased to see how he was accepted and included in the group as one of the family.

Grandmother Bayless, in particular, amused him. She brought Eve a handsome quilt of intricate "log cabin" design which she had made herself and then crumbled when she saw the exquisitely coloured rag rugs which Eve's mother had given to Dick.

"If—m!" Grandmother declared. "Now I know why Kate was so everlastingly busy dyeing and sewing all those rags that she couldn't even take time to visit with a person!"

Dick surprised Eve with his gift—a beautifully designed dinner ring set with diamonds. "We were engaged and married all in one breath," Eve explained to her mother. "and I asked to have only the wedding ring."

That evening the whole family bundled into heavy wraps and rode out to "Cousin Myrtle's" in Beachwood. There, in a modern suburb, Cousin Myrtle and her family lived in a house of Normandy type with a tower with a winding wrought iron stair and casement windows. Through diamond-shaped panes of glass the lights of an outdoor Christmas tree twinkled. The beautifully furnished home had not been built by wealth but rather by years of hard work combined with thrift and careful planning.

Dick felt himself attracted to all of Eve's relatives who seemed so friendly and merry. The next morning he built a crate to hold their gifts. "It's such fun," the cousins had declared, "to celebrate Christmas and a marriage at the same time." There were shell pink dishes, an onyx base lamp and a portable radio. There were exquisite silver pieces and an electric waffle iron.

Monday evening Esther invited a crowd of young people—all of them old friends of Eve's—to her home. There was bridge with a buffet supper and music afterward.

Then Christmas night the whole Bayless family escorted Eve and Dick to the station. "Eve," said her mother a moment before the train arrived, "here is an extra little present for you. Buy yourself some nice silver or something you really want with it. And don't tell your Pa! I saved it myself." It was a $50 bill.

Eve was awake and had eaten breakfast long before the train reached Lake City next morning. She was filled with anxiety. By the time she reached the office the store would have been open for some time and she would have to face everyone at once. They would all know about her marriage. She wondered how they would greet her and what new complications she would have to face.

Would Barnes be nice about it or would he be afraid her work would reflect a divided interest? How would the girls take the news? But Mona would be sweet, she knew. But Mona Allen?

Eve's trepidation increased later when she entered the store. Mr. Barnes had given her permission to arrive late, inasmuch as her train did not reach Lake City until 10 o'clock. A throng of after-holiday shoppers already was engaging the attention of the clerks, but Eve felt all eyes focused on herself. She nodded to several acquaintances as she hurried along toward the elevator. Her knees were weak by the time she entered the advertising office.

"Eve!" shrieked Arlene Smith, darting up from her typewriter and flinging her arms about Eve's slight form. "Congratulations, darling!"

Marya looked up from the evening slippers she was sketching. She arose and with dignity extended her hand and kissed Eve. "I am so happy for you," she said, smiling. Eve never remembered what she answered. She thought giddily, "What deep dimples Marya has!"

Mona Allen assumed a bored expression. She remained at her desk and as Eve passed she glanced up and returned her greeting with a "Good morning, Mrs. Rader." The words came as a distinct thrust. Strange as it seemed to Eve then, she had never thought of being called anything but "Miss Bayless" or "Eve" by her business associates.

To her intense relief Mr. Barnes was in consultation and she had time to regain her composure before facing him. As Eve opened her desk and lifted out sketches and notes she answered Arlene's questions and learned that the marriage announcement had caused pleasant excitement in the office. Arlene and Marya said they hoped Eve would continue her

TYPHOON IN JAPAN

MUCH DAMAGE ON WESTERN COAST

Tokyo, Sept. 5. A typhoon struck the Western half of Japan last night flooding about thirty thousand houses. In Osaka and over a thousand houses in Tokyo.

Many small fishing boats were destroyed in Kyushu, while the railway service was interrupted in Korea, where about fifty houses have collapsed or were washed away.

No damage was done to farm crops. The redeeming feature of the typhoon was that the lingering heat, which was the most severe in forty years, has broken.—Reuter.

work. Mona Allen permitted one corner of her mouth to lift in a scornful quiver.

The office boy entered then, almost buried under the stack of newspapers he was carrying. He tossed the papers on a large flat-topped desk and smiled brightly as he greeted Eve. Approaching her desk, he scowled darkly and whispered, "Don't let Miss Allen get your job. She's counting on it!" (To Be Continued)

Like a red-white-and-blue flood, Uncle Sam's NRA blanket codes swept out of postoffices all over the country to 5,000,000 employers. Here are a corps of letter-carriers leaving the New York City post-office with bundles of the codes that the administration believes will break the back of the depression.

How to PREVENT Childhood Ailments.

Because it is a vital truth that prevention is better than cure, countless parents all over the world give their little ones an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. In the old days a weekly dose of castor oil or other purgative was a common practice. But nowadays parents do not need to torture the little ones with these harsh, crude purgatives. The modern remedy is Baby's Own Tablets.

To avoid many of the ills of childhood parents should take special note of a child's natural functions. At the first sign of constipation or loss of appetite or general "off colour" a dose of Baby's Own Tablets will immediately put matters right. In this way Baby's Own Tablets prevent ailments from taking hold, and much pain, worry and expense are avoided.

For children who suffer from stomach or bowel troubles, flatulence, indigestion, cramp, colic, feverishness, colds, diarrhoea or worms, there is nothing more effective or more pleasant to take than this infantile remedy. ## Tie-Ideas.

Ideas about ties vary, but opinion is almost unanimous concerning the most pleasant place to choose the sort of ties men like to wear. For, as the accepted headquarters for good ties, Mackintosh's introduce new patterns practically every week... exclusive patterns expressing the latest ideas that are current in the West End of London... with the number of ties in each pattern deliberately restricted.

CHAMPION

Ooi Leong Teik writes:— "I write to testify to the benefits I have received by taking Phosferine during my training for the 1931 Malayan Weight-Lifting Championships."

As I had to reduce some seven or eight pounds off my normal bodyweight in order to enable me to compete in the 9-stone class, I had to go into very strenuous training, and with the help of Phosferine, I not only won the championship of that class, but also the Individual Championship, and, in addition I broke a British Record.

I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Phosferine to any physical culturist or athlete, whether he be in ordinary training or preparing for a competition, as it GIVES ENERGY AND ENDURANCE AND RENEWS BROKEN-DOWN TISSUE."

The federal government's determination to stamp out kidnaping is illustrated by this picture, which shows, at extreme right, Joseph B. Keenan, assistant U. S. attorney general, assisting John V. Hill, second from right, assistant prosecutor at the trial of kidnapers of Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City. Walter McGee, the kidnaper, is second from the left, between his lawyer and a stenographer. Keenan recently was placed in charge of the federal drive on kidnapers. McGee confessed his guilt.

Commanded by Lieut. Comdr. A. W. Bette, who is seen to make a stratosphere balloon flight, Chicago, the K-1, newest U. S. Navy blimp, is shown just leaving the ground at Ancon, O., on her maiden flight. The K-1 is of the new rigid observation type.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

GOLD STAMPEDE RUSH TO SELL AT HIGH PRICES

London, Sept. 6.
The rush to sell gold has been resumed in consequence of the rise in price of this commodity. Gold was 130s. 4d. per ounce to-day, having declined from the record set on September 1, when it rose sharply, by 13 1/4 d. to 130s. 8 1/2 d. But it is still nine pence above parity.

A half million sterling in bullion was taken by the Continent to-day. Dealers are receiving large amounts of jewellery, including many valuable pieces which have been paying safe deposit box rent for many years.

One old gentleman offered several particularly beautiful and costly golden goblets on condition that they should be melted down in his presence. Hiding his emotion he watched these splendid pieces of craftsmanship destroyed. This was only one instance of many private tragedies, due to diminishing incomes.—Rout.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Robert Armstrong has the leading role in "The Billion Dollar Scandal," drama of governmental intrigue which comes to-morrow to the Queen's. He is featured in the film with Constance Cummings, Olga Baclanova, Frank Morgan, James Gleason, Irving Pichel and Warren Hymer.

Cast as an ex-convict with astounding ability as a masseur, Armstrong got in touch with Lars Svenson, a Swedish gentleman, and took a two-weeks intensive course in the profession.

The picture centres around three paroled convicts, who reveal a scheme concocted by a group of financiers to mislead the government in a tremendous swindle. Armstrong, one of the trio, gets the information while acting as masseur for the leader of the financiers. The film reaches its climax in a Senatorial investigation chamber, where Armstrong, at risk of his freedom and his life, gives information which saves the United States billions of dollars.

"Dangerously Yours"

Warner Baxter, as a handsome, debonair, socially prominent jewel thief, and Miriam Jordan have the leading roles in the Fox Film production, "Dangerously Yours," coming on Thursday to the King's Theatre.

Set in the fashionable salons of metropolitan society, aboard a luxurious yacht and at a number of sparkling resorts, this picture portrays the romance between a finished jewel thief and the charming operative of an insurance company. The plot revolves around the plans of a woman to arrest a man and ends in an unexpected climax involving infatuation and love.

There are a number of hilarious sequences to which Herbert Mundin contributes his rare comic abilities. In support of Baxter, Miss Jordan and Mundin there is a cast of notable proportions that includes such well-known players as Florence Eldridge, wife of Frederic March, Florence Roberts, Nella Walker, Arthur Hoyt, Tyrell Davis, Will Davidson and Mischa Auer.

Frank Tuttle, producer of dozens of successful pictures including his recent "The Big Broadcast," is the director. Horace Jackson, who adapted "Paris Bound," "Holiday" and "The Animal Kingdom" for the films, is author of the screen play which is taken from the novel by Paul Hervey Fox.

"Up for the Derby"

The combination of Sydney Howard and horse racing in "Up for the Derby" will delight you. Sydney Howard can make us laugh in spite of ourselves, and his tragic and triumphal adventures, both on and off the race course, afford him ample opportunity to show himself at his best. How he and a pal bought a spavined two-year-old with a Derby engagement for fifty shillings right out of the stable; how they found

NANKING-CANTON

JAPANESE REPORT OF MEDIATORY EFFORT

Shanghai, Sept. 5. A settlement of outstanding political issues between Nanking and Canton is being sought, according to a Japanese report from Tokyo, which says that information has been received from official circles there to the effect that Chiang Kai-shek has requested General Maurice Cohen, who is now in Hongkong, to approach Canton with this in view.

the money for its fodder and final forfeit; and how they won the great classic, you must come and see for yourself. You will see a real Derby race, too.

"Made on Broadway"

Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers are a most entertaining screen combination in "Made on Broadway," which has its final showings to-day.

With Montgomery filling the role of a young-man-about-Broadway and super-fixer of political schemes, and Miss Eilers as one of his synthetic creations brought to dazzling prominence from an obscure position as a waitress, there is not a dull moment in the entire picture. The action is fast from start to finish with a pleasing blend of comedy and drama through many sparkling situations.

Madge Evans as the ex-wife who tries to restrain Montgomery in his mad efforts to "fix" every political scheme in Manhattan, adds a charming touch of suave-sophistication to the cast. She is deft in her handling of strong climaxes throughout the entire picture.

An exceptional supporting cast is headed by Eugene Palette in a strong comedy portrayal as a butler. C. Henry Gordon is polished and convincing in his role as Mayor Starling. Jean Parker, Ivan Lebedeff, David Newell, Vince Barnett and Joseph Cawthorn contribute excellent performances in small parts.

ARMS PARLEY

BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO CONFER

Paris, Sept. 5. Great Britain and France will hold a conference in Paris on September 18 at which will be discussed the future of Austria, and at which America may be represented, according to an article published by Le Petit Parisien to-day.

It is expected, the paper adds, that Sir John Simon, Minister for Foreign Affairs, and Capt. Anthony Eden, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of this department, will meet M. Daladier and M. Paul-Boncour, Foreign Minister, while it is believed that Mr. Norman Davis, representing the United States, will also join in the conversations.

The Paris newspaper asserts that the representatives of the powers will discuss control and reduction of armaments and Central European economic reconstruction.

Negotiations, it is said, have been proceeding between Great Britain, France, the United States and Italy in these matters.

Although the Quai D'Orsay declares Le Petit Parisien's story is exaggerated, it is admitted there that Anglo-French conversations are to be held on September 18, and that they are principally concerned with disarmament with a view to preparing for resumption of the arms Conference scheduled for October.—Reuter.

THE FRANC

Again there are rumours of an impending abandonment of the gold standard by France, the suggestion being that the budget deficit will compel such a step. Pressure from outside is increasingly strong, although it is claimed by French financial circles that it can largely be ignored in view of the fact that the greater part of France's export trade is conducted with her Colonies. It is still, however, believed in some circles that the franc cannot long resist the tendency of the rest of the world towards a gigantic experiment in controlled money, although they place greater stress on the internal conditions rather than to external pressure, and they see a fundamental weakness in the position of the franc. At the moment the French Treasury encounters no particular difficulty. But even on paper the budget, despite many promises, has not been balanced, and in the autumn it is certain that grave problems will present themselves to the French authorities. For more than a year the need of drastic retrenchment has been proclaimed. It was to have been the first task of the new Radical Government. Yet three governments followed, and although they each made an attempt to wipe out the deficit, they found themselves handicapped, first by the peculiar composition of the French Parliament, and second by the general disability under which popular parliaments suffer when it is necessary to retrench. Apart from the special situation of the French Government, it is frequently asked whether parliaments, which are willing enough to increase state liabilities in days of prosperity, are capable of decreasing them in days of adversity. They think of the electorate. Nevertheless, that electorate is composed not only of beneficiaries of state expenditure, but also of taxpayers; and the taxpayers in France are clamouring for some relief. It is calculated that there will be a deficit on next year's budget and on the railways of something like 11,000,000 francs, unless there is decreased expenditure or increased taxation; and M. Daladier has announced that he will endeavour to effect draconian reductions. In these circumstances, a governmental decision

NOTES OF THE DAY

REAL COURAGE

The successful dictator needs the wisdom of a Solomon, the thoroughness of a Napoleon, and the rash daring of a Caesar. Frankly, some people may have had doubts whether Herr Hitler possessed all these qualities, especially the rash daring of a Caesar. But now who can doubt it? Through Frau Goebbels, wife of his Minister of propaganda, Hitler now proposes to set up a government, fashion bureau and become arbiter of dress to the German woman. Nobody can now question the daring of Herr Hitler, who proposes to tell 80,000,000 women what to wear, even through a feminine minister-without-portfolio. But it is distinctly possible that it will not work. You can tell a man how to run his business. You can make him salute every dictator's underling that comes along. You can tell him to wear a black shirt, or a brown shirt, or even a nightshirt. But when it comes to telling a lady that she must wear a straw hat, or a felt hat, or a large hat, or a small hat, or no hat at all—well, we can think of many things that are just innocent fun beside that!

THE TARIFF TRUCE

Holland has given a start to denunciation of the Tariff Truce and its disintegration may be expected to follow rapidly. It has really ceased to have any value although it was probably necessary when drawn up at the instance of the United States in order to give the World Economic Conference a chance. It was designed merely to prevent its signatories from snatching at new tariff expedients, whether for bargaining purposes or otherwise, before the Conference met or while it was sitting. Without it, the temptation to such tactics would have been strong, and if any one Power succumbed to it conspicuously, there might have been a landslide. Tariff extremists resented the Truce. But no country could not have stood outside without courting acute trouble. It was, however, agreed that the Truce could be ended at any time on a month's notice being given after July 31 and the only surprising thing is that its termination should have been delayed so long.

JAPAN AND BRITAIN

Anti-British feeling is still running strongly in certain circles in Japan. In any other country it would seem rather remarkable since the whole agitation arises directly from the fact that Japan is flooding the markets of the British Empire with ultra-cheap goods, being enabled to do so partly by low money wages paid in her highly-efficient factories, and partly because her currency is much more depreciated on the international exchange than it is in respect of its internal purchasing-power. Not only, for instance, can excellent Japanese all-wool socks be bought in London for 6d. a pair (some were recently shown at the House of Commons even cheaper), but in regions like tropical Africa some of the best of Lancashire's remaining textile markets are being sliced from her. Japan's complaints arise from the measures taken by Britain to protect her industries.

SIMLA PARLEY

India has responded to the menace by stiff anti-Japanese duties, and in West Africa Britain has denounced a trade agreement so as to obtain (though not for twelve months) future liberty to do likewise. Unless some compromise agreement can be reached with Japan, there really seems no alternative to the multiplication of such measures far and wide. But direct negotiations are now arranged to take place in Simla and we hope that some friendlier solution may emerge from them. The interview given by Mr. Sawada in Hongkong conveyed little concerning Japan's intentions, but he spoke of good will and friendship, which alone are likely to provide an amicable arrangement.

tion of a government which would have a broader basis—which would be supported by most of the parties, including the Moderates. Such a government would act more boldly, since no particular party would be blamed for unpopular reforms. Unless a solution of this kind is found possible, the position of the franc will certainly be endangered before the end of the year.

IS A HUSBAND'S PLACE AT HOME?

By LIONEL HALE

A PROFESSOR of Philosophy in Swansea has lately confessed a passion for house-work. He is perfectly content, I read (not without a certain amount of ill-natured laughter), to be left a grass widower for long stretches at a time because it "amuses him to deal with the household."

Two days later, a defendant in a London court was unmasked in his true colours as another of these homelovers. Oddly enough, his wife was pleading for a separation on the grounds of his cruelty. Even she, however, had to admit that "he was very house-proud." The professor had owned up only to spring-cleaning and redecoration, although he announced the praiseworthy intention of going in for cookery; the gentleman in court was a confirmed dressmaker as well. The magistrates decided that he could not be as cruel as his wife thought, and she is still in his home, listening to his blithe whistling as he scrubs the floor, or his gentle domestic crooning as he piles the needle.

THE HITLER PURGE

Hitler is driving the women of Germany back to their homes. From office and factory, from busy typewriters and whirling machines, they are returning to what their Dictator calls "their proper place." If Mr. Ramsay MacDonald took a high hand to-morrow, and the women of England returned to their homes under the compulsion of a severe Order in Council, there would be fearful struggles over the gas-cooker, and the most embittered rivalry between husband and wife about making the beds.

The Victorian ideal of the husband in the matter of the house was negative rather than positive. All that was then required of a man was that he should not be actively inimical to cleanliness, should not walk on the new, sky-blue, drawing-room carpet in muddy boots, and should not allow his cigar smoke to hang about the boudoir curtains.

All house commandments, as I say, were negative. Nowadays standards of active virtue are laid down for the husband. He must not only spare the carpet, but tack it down; not only respect the curtains, but sew them and hang them up.

HERO—AND HOUSEMAID.

This change in husbands I put down, dogmatically and recklessly, to the late war. I am aware that Mr. John Buchan has remarked somewhere that a good many things are now put down to the war that used to be attributed to original sin; but I persist in adding to the scapegoat's burdens. During the war, women stepped very gallantly out of their kitchens into Government offices: instead of tea-parties and scandals, they had committees and—more scandal. Men, on the other hand, joined the Army in France; and, as everybody knows, a soldier when he is not fighting is scrubbing the floor of the sergeants' mess, or darning his own socks, or rolling his own pallinase, or carrying slop-buckets. That is one of the things that has always struck me as unfair about the Army.

A man is expected to alternate between a hero and a housemaid.

All this time, women were in the rough and tumble of the civilian's life. They were wrangling with sub-contractors, or bickering with farm horses, or bullying the males who remained in Government departments. What a dreadful four years! The women learned to fight, and the men learned to wash up.

Judging from the latest pronouncements from Germany the war has taught the world very little; but it has apparently evolved the maxim on which the future of England may be based: the husband's place is in the home.

I, myself, if I may so far unveil my private life, am not a married man. Is it, I sometimes wonder, because I am not very good with my needle? Or when I have seized some small, soft hand, and murmured passionately "I am not worthy to black your boots," has my subsequent failure been due to the fact that the owner of the hand has doubted not only my worthiness, but my ability?

PRELIMINARY TO MARRIAGE BELLS.

For surely, if I am not able to black her boots, then I am almost certainly untrustworthy with the china and inartistic in the arrangement of the flowers.

I do not like the idea at all, if, when I have been brought up to expect women to look after the house, they turn the tables and expect to find the graceful, domestic virtues in me. In the debilitated old times, when a husband was a bread-winner and not a potato-peeler, young men intending to marry were advised to ride over and surprise their loved ones unexpectedly—observing whether they were bright and cheerful and tidy about the house before breakfast, for instance.

HALE—HITLER.

Must I expect, when the time comes that some dear lady has begun to think seriously of me (over-looking my shameful weakness in the matter of blacking her boots), that I shall be liable to early morning visits just as I am coming down to breakfast, and that I shall be surprised by a charming but inquisitorial apparition, who will give me marks for being rosy and shaven, and take them off again because I have left last night's shirt in the middle of the bedroom floor? This is a very bleak prospect for me.

For if my wedding bells depend on such domesticity as keeping my own bedroom tidy, they will be, I fear, for ever mute.

On these lines, I would not hear my wedding bells ring for all the wives in the world, bread-winning as they might be.

In this matter, although I never thought to write the words, I am as one with Hitler.

The Very Idea!

THE GLACIAL AGE

By Eddie Kelly, Up the (North) Pole

THE other day—we wrote something about George Bernard Shaw.

Which is as it should be. Nearly always we are short at this time of the month. So to-day our article is going to be the same way.

Besides, we always get this way in September. What with all the anxiety, wondering when the hot weather is going to end, whether we're going to get one of the free tickets to "Cavalcade," and whether the hotels will stop our chit account before the summer ends, we haven't much time to concentrate on writing.

Give us the good old winter any time. If there's one thing we regret, it's that we didn't live in the Glacial Age (between 45 and 70 among the Latin people).

It has been called an age of frigidity among the sexes, but we feel sure that this is an inaccuracy.

The inhabitants of the Glacial Age were the Glacolithic man. Around him there was nothing but ice, which was obviously worthless without whiskey-soda and gimlets. So they invented the Hongkong Hotel.

Even to-day we have evidences of the Glacial Age during the winter in different parts of Europe, where water, which has stayed out in the cold and gone to sleep, has been known to turn into ice.

Which reminds us of an Eskimo woman, who, on entering her igloo, found her mate frozen in the arms of another woman. After beating them back into consciousness, she said to her husband:

"Who was that lady I thawed you with?"

(Message from the Editor, following submission of above: You're wanting a holiday, Eddie, aren't you?)

Eddie: Yes, an ice long one.)

WHAT'S IN A NAME

When we first met our wife we used to call her Miss Whaleteeth. Then we fell in love with her and called her Arabella. Within a week we were calling her "darling." We were married and she became "dear." Then just "Bell." But we overdid it last night. While we were asleep we called her "Jessie!"

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

HUNTING: Pursuit of young female of the species. Favourite Sabbath sport in Hongkong. The champions of the game are usually found in the lounge of the Hongkong Hotel or at Repulse Bay, but church choirs have provided more than one record beater.

SWIMMING: See SUN-BATHING.

BOWLING: See DRINKING or D. RINKING.

DRINKING: Most popular sport in Hongkong. Played with bottle, glass and chit book. Only skill required is ability to wield a stick, from centre of which protrudes small piece of lead. Also called LEAD SWINGING, LEAD SWILLING, LEAD PENCILLING, and LED TO BED.

HIKING: Hiking is what happens to all your joints and muscles when you go hiking. See also POODLE-FAKING.

DANCING: Winter pastime. Similar to hiking, only difference being that females hike backwards, and males stand on their (females') toes.

MOTORING: A form of Hunting. Pedestrians are substituted for foxes. See RUNNING, WALKING, HOME, SKATING, and the Undertaker.

HORSE-RIDING: As practised by the Elite. Breechless pastime, which consists of bumping the lower end of the long woolly bone down the back of the horse.

THE BUSY BEES
WORKING PARTYGRATEFUL THANKS FROM ENGLAND

The excellent charitable work carried out by the Busy Bees working party, of which Mrs. H. Westlake is the acting Honorary Secretary, is handsomely acknowledged in letters just received from St. Dunstan's and Mrs. K. Collett, on behalf of the Middlesbrough Settlement.

The Busy Bees have sent £55 to St. Dunstan's this year, and Sir Ian Fraser, expressing thanks, says: "As the War recedes it becomes increasingly difficult to maintain our income. In these circumstances you will readily understand that the sympathetic and practical help of people who realise that our responsibilities did not end with the War is keenly appreciated. Please be assured that the money will be the means of bringing happiness to those who suffered severely in the War."

Acknowledging the receipt of $31.1.1. collected by the Busy Bees for the wives and children of unemployed men, Mrs. K. Collett says that Lady Southern authorised the forwarding of the money to a settlement in Middlesbrough, in the heart of the worst hit industrial area.

"The tragedy of Middlesbrough is that it is a one-trade town and that since its trade has been shattered for ten years, unemployment is not only tremendous by long-standing but also affects 75 per cent. of the population."

"It should be glad if all those who took part in that very successful function in Hongkong would know with what deep gratitude the money has been received in Middlesbrough."

Mrs. Collett encloses a letter of thanks from the warden of the Settlement, outlining the circumstances of two of the cases which will be directly helped by the gift from Hongkong.

AN AUDACIOUS
THEFT
CANTON RESIDENT ROBBED

Canton, Sept. 5. An audacious theft was committed this morning at the residence of Mr. Hoffmeister, of Messrs. Spalinger and Co., with so far no arrests, although suspicion points strongly to two servants.

Early on, Mr. Hoffmeister rang for his servant who attended on his wants as usual. An hour later on ringing for breakfast, no reply was forthcoming and on investigation led to the discovery that both his house-boy and cook had departed bag and baggage.

Immediate survey of his rooms led Mr. Hoffmeister to the discovery of the disappearance of $140 in cash which he had had the night before in his coat pocket and a silver cocktail shaker. Suspicion that the theft was the work of the boy is strengthened by the fact that Mr. Hoffmeister the night before had spoken strongly to the boy for dereliction of duty and the decision to dismiss him was practically arrived at. ## TUBERCULOSIS?

REMARKABLE CLAIM
BY PROFESSOR

Berlin. Sensational claims to the discovery of a cure for tuberculosis have been submitted by an American professor here.

Professor John Harthan, of Glendale, California, announces that a serum, harmless to the patient, which has "never failed" to effect a cure of tuberculosis. He claims the case of a German woman, who having lost an untitled husband from the disease, has been cured by his serum. The woman, already married to a second husband, is now well.

well for a brighter future for the club. The receipts were £165.

There were no fewer than 18 new men on view and no player was more prominent than Morris, the former Swindon centre-forward. Mayson, outside-right from Bolton Wanderers, often did clever things, and Taylor (Southport) was dashing and shot well. Lucas, formerly well known with Liverpool, and Crompton, a Welsh international from Wrexham, were outstanding as full-backs.

Red and Whites defeated Whites by four goals to three. Mills (2), Fletcher and Crawford scored for the winners, and Taylor (2) and Mayson obtained the losers' goals.

WEST HAM AND FULHAMNewcomers Show Up
Very Well

Excellent form was shown by Tippetts, the Port Vale forward, when he turned out for the Blues in West Ham's trial at Upton Park, which was witnessed by 7,000 spectators.

He scored in the first half and in the second, as did Mills, the other goals for the Blues coming from Keenan, of St. George's Glasgow, and Ruffell. The Reds scored their goals in the first half, through Goulden and Brown (Norwich City).

Nearly 7,000 people attended the match at Craven Cottage, but they were somewhat disappointed in not seeing Abel, the new centre-forward from Chesterfield, who had to stand down, owing to a swollen ankle.

The Whites, who beat the Stripes by 3-0, included the 18-year-old Gore at outside-right. He played with rare dash and spirit. Wraith, the inside-right from Scarborough, also played well and Keating, at back, was very sound. Goals were scored by Wood in the first half and Wraith (2) in the second.

DIV. 3 TRIALS

GOALS GALORE AT WATFORD

At Watford the Blues who included eight of last season's players, beat the Whites by five goals to four in a bright game. There were eight newcomers in the Whites and all showed up finely.

For the winners Lane, Lowe, McPherson, Barnett and Haywood (who took Lane's place in the second half) were the scorers, while Carter (3) and Devan netted for the Whites. Of the new men Elkas (Middlesbrough) and Armstrong (Queen's Park Rangers) did some good things at centre-half, while of the forwards Irvine and Devan were distinctly prominent. The receipts were £100.

An attendance of over 7,000 spectators gathered at Selhurst Park for the Crystal Palace trial, in which the Blues and Reds played a draw. Earle (2), Simpson and Harry scored for the Reds, and Manders (2), Nichols and Spark for the Blues. The forward play, on the whole was exceedingly good, Manders, Earle and Simpson being especially prominent.

All the newcomers made an excellent impression, at Boreham, where the Whites beat the Stripes by 4-0. Littlewood, who hails from Port Vale, scored the only goal and was a thrustful centre-forward, and Cartwright (Lincoln), F. Wilson (Bolton), Farrow (Wolves) and C. Wilson (Grimsby) all did extremely well.

ad five goals, while a sixth was added by Nicol. For the Reds, Scott, Syred (2) and Griffiths found the net.

A feature of the Luton Town trial was the skilful work of Pease (Middlesbrough) and Pearson (Chelsea) on the extreme wings. They fitted in well with the old players. Others to excel were Bell (Southport) and Hargreaves (Sheffield Wednesday). Tait (2), Hutchison and Pease scored for the Whites, and Bell, J. York and H. Wright for the Stripes.

There was a bright display of football in the Norwich City trial, in which Whites beat Stripes by 3-2. Warnes (Arsenal) played brilliantly at outside-right, Vinnall (Sunderland) was a smart leader of the Colours attack, and Thorpe excelled at right-back.

Some lively football was seen at Aldershot, where the Whites, with nine of last season's first team players, beat the Colours by 4-0. The newcomers, who completed the side, were Easton (Port Vale) and Lee (Chesterfield) and both showed well in an attack that was led in smart fashion by Smithson.

Three thousand saw Exeter City's preliminary game, the result being a draw of three goals each. For Whites the scorers were Hurst (2) and Walters (last year with Crystal Palace), while for Reds the goals were obtained by Wrightson, Kennedy and Barnes (late of Watford). Walters and Barnes showed excellent form.

It was fully demonstrated in the first trial that Cardiff City have secured new men of ability. The most impressive were Calder, Marcroft and Posten, while Perkins and Paget are extremely useful.

The scorers were: Henderson (2), Foster, Marcroft; Blues: Paget, G. Jones, Hill.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

WHERE YOU SEE PERSECUTION, THERE IS MORE THAN A PROBABILITY THAT TRUTH LIES ON THE PERSECUTED SIDE.—Lafleur.

Lui Sai-sang, an earth carrier, was yesterday injured by a rock, being dislodged from the hillside while at work on the new Shingmun Road.

Ho Sai-mui, aged 17, is in hospital in a serious condition resulting from a fall from the roof of No. 16, Yoo Wo Street, where she had been visiting friends, yesterday.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade, which was attending the funeral of the late Mr. Charles Bentley, yesterday, was also attending the funeral of the late Mr. Charles Bentley, yesterday.

To-morrow marks the opening of the Parace-New Year, 1303.

During the three days ended last Monday, two cases of typhoid and one case of meningitis were reported to the local health authorities.

The forthcoming wedding is announced of Miss Vida Rosemond, confidential assistant and stenographer to the Colonial Secretary, and Mr. Charles Bentley, Secretary of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation.

The Governor-General of Formosa will be attending the Republic of China Exhibition, which is being held at the Hongkong and Shanghai Exhibition Ground, from September 10 to 15.

ELEVEN
CENTURIESCRICKET CLOSING IN GLORYLAST COUNTY MATCH

London, Sept. 5. With Essex defeating Sussex on the first innings, the 1933 county cricket season came to a close to-day.

Batsmen are finishing the summer in a blaze of glory. In the course of the three matches concluded to-day no less than eleven three figures innings were played.

Harry Parks of Sussex joined the select band of players scoring two centuries in one match; the M.C.C. v Yorkshire encounter produced five separate hundreds, whilst another four were scored in the England XI v West Indies encounter.

An aggregate of 3,757 runs were scored with an average of 1,252 per match and a fraction under 50 runs per wicket.

Sussex were given the peculiar experience of following on after putting together 402. Essex had first knock and scored so rapidly that they were able to declare at 560 for 9.

No centuries were scored, but the whole team made runs, the leading contributors being O'Connor and Wilcox with 93 and 74 respectively.

Sussex made a bold response and with Harry Parks carrying his bat for 114, came within 168 of the Essex score. Essex enforced the follow on, but Sussex were equal to the occasion and another three figure innings by Parks saw them declare at 285 for 6, having saved the game with ease.

M.C.C. RECOVER.

Yorkshire outplayed the M.C.C. until the Maryleboners, following on, batted a second time. Then, thanks to R. E. S. Wyatt and "Patsy" Hendren, some prolific scoring was seen, and the match ended in a draw.

Mitchell, Leyland and Sutcliffe all scored merrily to assist the Yorkshire total along to 557 for 8, at which point the close was applied.

The M.C.C. were not impressive in their reply being dismissed for 266, but continuing at the wicket, they improved tremendously and before the close had totalled 463 for 7.

The West Indies, although obtaining a substantial advantage on the first innings against an England XI, were held to a draw.

The England team batted first and declared at 362 for 9, Hammond hitting up 133. West Indies returned the compliment by putting 558 on the board, both Grant and Hendley being in great form with the bat.

But with Woolley batting in his best style the home side were never in danger of defeat and time was played out with a score of 272 for 5 wickets.

C.B.A. HOCKEY

Selection Committee For 1933-34

The men's hockey section of the Central British Association held a meeting at the Clubhouse, King's Park, yesterday evening, the chair being taken by Mr. C. O. Francis.

Others present were—Messrs. T. S. D. Whitely, J. J. King, S. MacNider, N. Whitley, J. E. Wilson, E. MacNider, R. B. Blyth, R. A. Carroll, B. I. Blackford, W. H. G. Hirt, G. Gurevich, M. Yatakin.

Proposals for the 1933-34 season were discussed. Mr. Francis was elected captain, with Mr. King vice-captain.

The meeting decided on a Selection Committee and the following were elected—Mr. Francis, Captain, Vice-Captain and Mr. Hirt.

The Chairman said that the team did not play in the Marnak Tournament last season owing to a late entry. The team had entered this year. Of twelve friendly matches played last season, three were won, seven lost and two drawn. The goal scorers list was headed by T. Whitely with 8 to his credit, while W. G. Johnson was second with 4.

CLUBS UNANIMOUSLY SATISFIED

INTERESTING REPORTS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTRY

PRACTICALLY the whole of the clubs competing in the English Football League held their first official trial games on Saturday, August 12, and from all over the country came the "We're Satisfied" reports.

NEWCOMERS, almost without exception, impressed club supporters, and there were signs in plenty of a big revival by several teams whose records during the past two or three years have been rather dismal.

BELOW will be found some comments on a large number of the trial games.

Despite the mild heat wave—70 degrees was registered during the afternoon when most of the games started—football commenced with a swing throughout the British Isles. Happily, the practice matches were devoid of serious injuries to players. As a rule there are several mishaps, but this year owing, no doubt, to the heat and the hard grounds, most of the players took matters easily. The games attracted good attendance, and charity, to which the proceeds are devoted, benefited to the extent of several thousands of pounds.

Arsenal had the biggest attendance of the day, more than 15,000 assembling at Highbury, the receipts being £270. The only goal of the game came just prior to half-time with a neat shot from Bastin for the Reds (Probables). The winners, who consisted of all last season's first eleven with the exception of Joe Hulme, playing cricket for Middlesex, showed all their old cleverness and had the better of the exchanges throughout.

Wilson, played a masterly game in goal and was the hero of the Whites defence, in which Trim (Portsmouth) was an admirable partner to Compton at back.

very clever. He created an excellent impression.

Argue, from Birmingham, who appeared in the second half, was another of the new players to shine, while both Jackson (Partick Thistle) and Woodley excelled in goal, the first named showing himself to be a notable acquisition.

The 6,000 spectators at the Queen's Park Rangers game saw some really good football. Devine (Sunderland) proved very clever indeed, and Clark (Crystal Palace), Blake (Watford) and Mason, the new goalkeeper from Fulham, were in great form.

Goddard scored for the Reds in the first half, and in the second half Clark and Emerson added to the total. Allen replied for the Hoops.

At St. Andrew's, Birmingham, 5,000 people saw the Blues, the first team defence and reserve forwards, defeat the Reds, the League forwards and reserve defence, by four goals to one. The Reds did most of the attacking, but Hibbs, Boston and Barnes defended in masterly fashion.

McGurk, formerly of Clyde, gave a great display at outside-right, and should strengthen the front rank. Bertram, of Aldershot, who scored on trial, also impressed. The goalkeepers were Horman, Shaw Stoker, Bertram and Curtis.

The star player of the Plymouth Argyle trial was Cookson, the former West Bromwich Albion forward, who excelled with his left-foot shooting and thus infused the attack with the "punch" that was so sorely needed last season. Bungay and Simpson showed clever ball control at half-back. The attendance reached 6,000.

OLD BRIGADE SHINES

Brilliant Play In Spurs' Trial.

Last year's Spurs' team played the reserve and newcomers to a standstill at White Hart Lane before 11,400 spectators when, playing as the whites, they scored four times in the first 15 minutes.

The scores for the Whites were McCormick (3), Hunt (2), O'Callaghan and Evans (W.), and Howe and Hall (B.) netted for the Stripes.

Howe was unlucky in missing a penalty.

The best of the new men was Boland, the outside-right from Lowestoft, while Hall (B.) of Lincoln City forward line was always superior to that of the Stripes, and on this form it is unlikely that there will be any new faces in the Spurs' early League encounters.

The fact that there were 6,000 spectators at Clapton Orient's first practice match, a large attendance for a practice match, is a sign that the new season is being watched with interest.

At the other end of the scale, the trial match between the two teams at the end of the season, the Whites, who were the only team to win a trial match, were the only team to win a trial match.

WHAT THE RESULTS TO DATE SUGGEST

SPLENDID FORM BEING MAINTAINED BY PROMOTED STOKE

(By "The Pilgrim")

Students of form for Saturday's League fixtures will, I think, find their favourites running true to recent performances, that is if Monday's matches are to serve as any reliable guide.

The Spurs were checked in their winning stride, but it was not to be expected that the Wolves would retain their dismal form indefinitely with such an alert manager as Major Buckley.

All the same the Wolves are taking risks with their colt policy and would be wise to get hold of some experienced players, especially in the defence.

Wednesday spent an unfruitful day at Aston Villa, which is not the best place to break a run of bad luck, and it is unlikely that they will fare any better at Everton. A draw is the best I expect from them.

LOOK OUT FOR STOKE.

Stoke delighted their supporters by holding the powerful Liverpool side to a draw. It is evident that the newcomers are going to be a force in this division.

It is good to see Stoke, one of the oldest clubs—I believe it is claimed that they are actually the oldest in the country—back in the First Division. They have passed through many vicissitudes, but it is to be hoped that they are now to enter on an era of lasting success.

Much was made last season of their defence, and it was probably true that they won the Second Division championship mainly through their remarkable ability to save the goals. To go through the season and lose only 39—a lower average than one a match—was amazing.

But I hope they are not to embark on their career in the First Division believing that defence will see them through.

At the moment it is evident that the club are prepared to put all their trust in last season's players. I shall be surprised if a need for them is not felt later but it may be a wise policy to wait and see what the requirements may be.

WEST HAM & PROMOTION.

Their overwhelming defeat of Plymouth at Upton Park on Monday shows that West Ham are making a strong effort to satisfy their exacting supporters.

Last season West Ham had a dismal experience. They played so badly throughout the League campaign by that point, that relegation was a single point. The only ray of comfort came from their success in F.A. Cup-ties, which enabled them to reach the semi-final, to be undeservedly beaten by Everton, the winners, at Wolverhampton.

There were many reasons for their failure in the League. Too much reliance was placed upon the experienced players, who struggled under the handicap of inadequate reserve strength. There was a lack of harmony in the camp, at least for part of the season, a weakness in defence, which conceded more goals than any other team in the season, and, above all, a want of thrust in the inside forward positions.

Under the direction of "Charlie" Paynter, the team manager, a bold attempt to remedy all these weaknesses has been made. One has the

ATTRACTIVE GAME AT CHELSEA

Priestly's Clever Display

There were about 18,000 spectators at Stamford Bridge for the trial match in which the Reds beat the Blues by 2-0, and both sides, without taking undue risks, provided some highly attractive football.

The goals netted by Odell, Gallacher and Priestley were all scored in the second half, Priestley, an inside forward from Lincoln, was equally effective with either foot, while his working of the ball was very clever. He created an excellent impression.

Argue, from Birmingham, who appeared in the second half, was another of the new players to shine, while both Jackson (Partick Thistle) and Woodley excelled in goal, the first named showing himself to be a notable acquisition.

POMPEY'S NEW FORWARDS

Ex-Barnsley Man Does Well

An entirely new forward line appeared in the regular first eleven in Portsmouth's trial at Fratton Park, the reserve side creating a surprise by winning two goals to one.

Wallbanks, from Barnsley, who led the Reds' attack, scored both their goals, the first as the result of a nice through pass from Nash of Charlton, and the second following a centre by Williams from Bournemouth, who formed a very effective right wing.

The only new player in the premier team was Baxter, from Dundee North End, who took the place of Jack Smith at inside-right and created a favourable impression. Wedgill scored the Blues' only goal with practicality the last kick of the match.

Jack Bowers, the Derby County centre-forward, has lost none of his goal scoring propensities. In the trial match he netted six of the seven goals scored by his side. Nicholas, side forward from Lincoln, was equally effective with either foot, while his working of the ball was very clever. He created an excellent impression.

Argue, from Birmingham, who appeared in the second half, was another of the new players to shine, while both Jackson (Partick Thistle) and Woodley excelled in goal, the first named showing himself to be a notable acquisition.

INTERPORT BOWLS

HONGKONG TEAMS SELECTED

REPRESENTATIVE RINKS

The Selection Committee appointed by the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association to choose players to represent Hongkong in the forthcoming Interport Bowls matches, met last night at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club.

It was intimated that owing to the uncertainty of the date on which the Shanghai Interport Team is expected in Hongkong, no dates have as yet been fixed for the Interport matches.

Information was received in the Colony yesterday that the Shanghai Interport Team was unable to accept the dates suggested by the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association, as the team could not sail for the Colony until September 27, at the earliest.

It was originally arranged that the first Interport match should be played on September 23, but a change of dates will now be necessary.

FIRST INTERPORT.

The first Interport Match will be played on the Craigengower Green, the rink for this match comprising the following:

A. E. Conates (Craigengower), J. Chalmers (Tallou R.C.), F. Cullen (Kowloon Dock), R. F. Luz (Club de Recreo), Skip.

The second Interport will be played on the ground of the Kowloon Cricket Club, the local representation against Shanghai being as follows:

J. V. Ramsay (Kowloon Dock R.C.), A. Hyde Lay (K. C. C.), F. J. Jones (Civil Service), A. Holland (K.B.G.C.), Skip.

Whatever the result of the first two Interport matches, a third match will be played on the Police Green. In this contest Hongkong will be represented by the following:

R. Hall (K.B.G.C.), R. W. Bradbury (Craigengower), J. C. Brown (Kowloon Dock R.C.), U. M. Omar (Craigengower), Skip.

Bowlers have been appointed as reserves in the following order: W. Mair (Police R.C.), W. Macfarlane (Yacht Club), E. Post (Police R.C.).

KOWLOON MATCH.

During their stay in Hongkong, the Shanghai team will play several other matches. A match against Kowloon will be played at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, the following players representing Kowloon:

E. C. Fincher (K.C.C.), F. M. de Silva (Recreo), R. Lapsley (Kowloon Dock R.C.), H. Nish (K.B.G.C.), Skip; Reserve: L. A. Gutierrez (Club de Recreo).

The match, Shanghai versus Victoria, will be played on the Civil Service Club Green, Victoria being represented by the following:

D. Peoples (Tallou R.C.), H. Beer (Craigengower), A. R. Clarke (Police R.C.), A. W. Grimitt (Civil Service), Skip; Reserve: N. J. Bebbington (Civil Service).

SECOND LEAGUE.

In a match to be played on the green of the Hongkong Electric Club, the Hongkong Second League will be represented against Shanghai by the following bowlers:

J. S. Logan (K.B.G.C.), A. Macfarlane, W. H. B. Muskett (Craigengower), Skip; Reserve: W. S. Drake (K.B.G.C.), Omar's Rink v. Luz's Rink; Holland's Rink v. Grimitt's Rink.

PRACTICE GAME.

There will be an Interport practice game on Saturday next on the Craigengower Green at 3.30 p.m. The following Interport rinks will play on that date:

Omar's Rink v. Luz's Rink; Holland's Rink v. Grim

WARSHIP IN GALE

H.M.S. CORNWALL STRUCK BY TYPHOON

Flying the paying-off pennant,
H.M.S. Cornwall returned to Hongkong from her summer cruise to northern waters shortly afternoon yesterday.

As she steamed down the harbour to her anchorage, the Cornwall showed practically no signs of the experiences she had undergone in the typhoon that passed inland near Shanghai on Saturday night.

Interviewed aboard the warship,
Commander I.M.R. Campbell said that the Cornwall proceeded to Deal Island, near the mouth of the Whangpoo River, when intimation was first received of the approach of the typhoon.

The wind gained in intensity on Saturday afternoon, and, although the Cornwall was between thirty and forty miles from the centre of the disturbance, gusts which exceeded 120 miles an hour were experienced between 8 and 9 p.m.

Two other vessels, a Chinese ship and a Butterfield and Swire steamer, were also obtaining what shelter they could from the low lying islands.

Despite the extremely high velocity of the wind, the strong current kept the Cornwall almost broadside on to the gale, and it was this that was responsible for the loss of the ship's seaplane.

An exceptionally heavy gust tore the upper structure of the seaplane from the wires holding it down to the ship, and carried it overboard.

The full intensity of the typhoon passed by 9 p.m., but extremely gusty weather was experienced practically the whole of the night.

With the exception of the loss of the seaplane, no damage was done to the Cornwall, which sailed for Hongkong next day.

The Cornwall will remain in port until Friday morning when she will depart for England for refit and recommissioning.

Commander Campbell was formerly stationed aboard H.M.S.
Kent, and was appointed to H.M.S.
Cornwall this year.

JAPANESE REPORT OF BRITISH AMBITION

Shanghai, Sept. 5.

Japanese reports from Tokyo state that General Maurice Cohen (former adviser to the late Dr.
Sun Yat-sen), who is in Hongkong, has been authorised to ask Canton's approval of the establishment of a British controlled company to compete with the Pan-American Airways in the Far East.

The report concludes that the

QUAKE TOLL

WHOLE TOWNSHIP DESTROYED

Nanking, Sept. 5.
Belated reports from Szechuan state that tremendous damage has resulted from an earthquake which occurred in north-western Szechuan on August 15.

The districts of Sanglan, Lifan, Moukung, Moushion and Wen-chuan, on the upper reaches of the Min River, are the chief sufferers.

The entire township of Tichien, for 30 li south and north and 50 li east and to the west, is reported to have been in entailing great loss of life.

Owing to the severance of communications, damage to property and live stock cannot be assessed; but the earthquake is described as the worst in a century.

A large number of houses and bridges have been wrecked on the highway between Sangpan and Moushion, which has been rendered impassable.

An avalanche of rocks falling into the Min River has caused navigation along the upper reaches to be suspended.—Reuter.

SHARK AHoy!

SIGHTED IN CLEAR WATER BAY ON SATURDAY

A party aboard Mr. A. E.
Edgar's yacht had a thrilling experience on Saturday when they were making for Clear Water Bay after a squall. They were just passing an island off the mainland when a shark, stated to be about ten feet in length, was seen following the boat at a distance of about twenty feet. It kept close to the yacht for some time, but as the vessel drew in to the shelter of the cliffs the shark disappeared out to sea again.

There have been several reports of sharks appearing in local waters this year.

CHINESE FLIGHT.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

Are you familiar with handling the redouble at contract when employing the Sims negative double? Most people redouble without any particular reason for doing so.

While I do not really believe you will come across the following situation very often, I give you the hand because it brings out, even in a situation as bad as this, what vital information is exchanged between partners when they properly understand how to handle the redouble.

This hand came up in a tournament. The North and South pair were using the Boland Club system. Just because they received a bad result on this hand is no discredit to the system.

South made an arbitrary bid of one club showing three and one-half tricks. East and West were using the constructive one over one system, and West passed. North made an arbitrary response of one diamond, showing less than two high card tricks. East held hearts and spades so he made a negative double. South redoubled. A redouble should say to your partner, "Let me handle the next bid. I may support your suit or our opponents may bid into my hand and I may want to double them."

North and South had not as yet named a real suit—both of their bids had been arbitrary, so the redouble was wrong. However, after a redouble is made, what should the partner do? Bear this in mind—when your partner doubled he asked you for information regarding your hand, and the fact that an opponent put in a redouble does not relieve you of this responsibility. Do not pass unless you are willing to play the hand at one diamond doubled and redoubled.

In this case, after South redoubled, diamonds was the best suit West had, so he passed. North also passed, but this is wrong as he does not have a real diamond suit—his diamond response being arbitrary.

East figured that so long as the diamond bid was arbitrary he would not give North and South a chance to get into the right suit, so he passed.

North and South made two diamonds, but not being vulnerable they received only 330 points, while if they played the hand at no trump they can easily make four odd.

ANTI-CHANGCHUN PLOT

CHINESE OFFICERS ARRESTED

Mukden, Sept. 1.
The Press ban on news concerning an anti-Manchoukuo plot by Chinese soldiers was removed late last night.

Lieut.-Col. Shang Chiu-hsiang, staff officer of the Chinese National Salvation Volunteer Army; Major-Gen. Pao Feng-lung and fifteen others were arrested by Major Kikuchi, of the Japanese Gendarmes, force in Manchuria, on July 27 in the Chinese City of Mukden. It is learned.

According to Japanese officials, the Chinese planned to blow up the American Consulate-General here on May 7; the British Consulate-
General on May 12; the Mukden Railway Station on May 31; the tram-car track in front of the Mukden Railway Station on June 4; and the government opium bureau on June 27. Each time the Japanese discovered the plot and thwarted it. The arrested Chinese were handed over to the Mukden police on August 19 after being questioned by the Japanese gen-darmes.

The announcement said that the Chinese also attempted to organise anti-Manchoukuo forces by starting a rebellion among newly-organised Manchoukuo troops.
Major-Gen. Pao was reported to have attempted to organise a volunteer corps with 1,000 mounted men at Chinwangtao.

Another group of anti-Manchoukuo Chinese soldiers were arrested on April 8. They were headed by Lin Chiu-tung, who formerly belonged to the 21st
Route Army of the Northeastern Anti-Japanese National Salvation

FORMER MINISTER CHARGED

RELIEF FUNDS USED FOR PARTY

Berlin, Aug. 31.
The Public Prosecutor of Berlin opened legal proceedings to-day against Herr Andrew Hermes, who was formerly Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Finance in the Reich Government.

He is charged with continual dishonesty to the disadvantage of the Prussian Agrarian Bank and the German Peasants' Bank.

Herr Hermes is accused of having employed funds destined for the relief of agrarian unions for the benefit of the "Christian Peasants' Association," of which he was chairman.

The ex-minister, who was arrested and taken to a detention house last March, was recently released but has now been brought up for trial once more.

Herr Hermes is a Catholic and was a member of the Centre Party.
He was the first post-war Minister of Agriculture in Germany and was Minister of Finance in the Wirth Cabinet during the time of the French occupation of the Ruhr.—Reuter.

Army. These men are accused of attempting to blow up the Mukden railway station on January 4 and the waterworks in the S.M.R. zone in Mukden on March 2.

They are reported to have established their headquarters in Shih-tung last year together with Chang-Fu-liang, commander of the plainclothes snipers in Manchuria.
Chang went to Peking when the Japanese gendarmes arrested his men on April 8.—United Press.

CAPTAIN GOERING NOW GENERAL

HIGH RANK FOR MINISTER

Berlin, Aug. 31.
President von Hindenburg to-day appointed Captain Herman Goering, the Prussian Premier, and Reich Minister of Aviation, to the rank of general in the Prussian infantry in recognition of his "services for the liberation of Germany."

Captain Goering's promotion seems an extraordinary step illustrative of the feelings of unlimited confidence and gratitude which the President entertains for him.

Heretofore, there have been only two cases when officers of minor rank were raised to that of general.
They were Prince Bismarck, "the Iron Chancellor" then Premier and a lieutenant, who was made a general by his commander-in-chief, while Wilhelm II, following the example of his grandfather, undertook a similar step with regard to his own Chancellor, Theobald von Bethmann Hollweg.—Reuter.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH BRITISH DIPLOMAT AND WIFE

Tokyo, Sept. 1.
Mr. T. M. Snow, the British Charge d'Affaires, and Mrs. Snow had a very narrow escape from death on Lake Chuzenji, near Nikko, yesterday afternoon.

The boat in which they were at the time capsized, according to word received here, and the couple were in imminent danger of drowning. A sight-seeing motor boat, which happened to be in the neighbourhood at the time, rushed to the scene and picked them up.—

THE COLONY'S NEW CHIEF JUSTICE

MOSCOW PLANE CRASH

Eight Killed-in Big Disaster

Moscow, Sept. 5. Five prominent Soviet officials connected with aviation, together with the wife of one of them, and a pilot and a mechanic, were killed to-day in an aeroplane crash near Moscow. — Reuter.

NEW YORK RAILWAY DISASTER

OVER HUNDRED KILLED AND INJURED

BINGHAMTON TRAGEDY

The Binghamton railway disaster (reported in the first editions of the Telegraph) was much more serious than was first believed.

Early Reuter messages indicate that the casualties totalled about thirty-two, twelve of them killed. Latest information from Reuter's New York correspondent shows that over a hundred were killed or injured.

The estimates at present are: 100 injured.

The train involved were the Chicago Elmer express from New York and a freight train. The express was travelling at high speed and a terrific crash occurred.

Nearly all the casualties occurred in two coaches which were telescoped, harrowing spectacles greeting rescue parties who worked frantically in efforts to release injured and imprisoned passengers.

The disaster is one of the worst occurring in the United States for some considerable time.

WATERLOO BRIDGE GETS SHAKING

BARGE COLLIDES WITH PIER

London, Sept. 5. Waterloo Bridge, which for a long time past has been in "splints" while the authorities have fiercely debated as to whether to replace or strengthen it, was shaken to-day by a barge loaded with bricks which swung downstream and crashed into one of the central piers.

Fearing the worst, the authorities stopped traffic over the bridge for eight hours, but it was at length ascertained that the foundations were not affected, and traffic was then permitted to resume with the restriction of a maximum speed of 3 miles an hour. — Reuter.

JUSTICE

MR. MACGREGOR APPOINTED

ATTORNEY-GENERAL OF KENYA

SUCCEEDS SIR JOSEPH KEMP

Mr. Alasdair Duncan Artholl MacGregor, Attorney General of Kenya Colony, has been appointed Chief Justice of Hongkong in succession to Sir Joseph Kemp.

His Excellency the Governor has received a telegram from the Secretary of State for the Colonies intimating that His Majesty has approved of the appointment.

Mr. MacGregor, who was born in 1883, was educated at George Watson's College, and graduated from Edinburgh University as Master of Arts with classical honours. He also took his B.A. at Oxford with honours.

He was called to the Lincoln's Inn Bar in 1909, and entered the Colonial service, as District Commissioner for South Nigeria. He was appointed to the political department in 1913. Subsequently he held the following appointments: Station Magistrate 1914, Police-Magistrate 1917, Crown Counsel 1912, Solicitor-General 1923.

He was made Attorney-General of Trinidad in 1920, and afterwards of Kenya.

JUDGE BRADLEY PASSES AWAY

FORMER RESEARCH CHEMIST

(Our Own Correspondent).

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1931. Received September 6, 6.10 p.m.)

London, Sept. 5. The death is announced of His Honour Judge Francis Ernest Bradley.

He was a Judge of the County Courts, North West Lancashire circuit from 1921. He joined the Northern Circuit after studying law in the newly opened School of Law. He was Dauntsey Law Scholar of Owen's College in 1886 and an Associate in 1888. He was also the Arden Scholar of Gray's Inn and became a barrister in 1889.

He first practised in the Lancashire Palatine Chancery Court and was Lecturer in Equity at Liverpool University from 1892-93. Among his numerous other appointments were: Tutor in English Law at the Owen's College, Manchester University, a member of the Board of Examiners of the Council of Legal Education, Counsel for the prosecutions of the Cotton Control Board.

He became a Freeman of the City of London in the Worshipful Company of Glaziers in 1905, had been a member of the Court since 1819 and was Master in 1923-4. He was appointed a member of the Court of the University of Manchester as representative of the Convocation from 1921-30 and was Chairman of the Convocation in 1928-29. He had been Vice-President of the Old Mancunians Association since 1912.

Before studying law, Judge Bradley, who was the son of a Manchester manufacturing and research chemist, studied science and did research work in his father's laboratory from 1882-85, during which time he invented and patented improvements in various chemical processes.

THREE CLEAR GOALS

London, Sept. 5. In the Northern Section of the Third Division of the Football League to-day, Rochdale defeated Hartlepool by three goals to nil. — Reuter.

THE HIGH COST OF DIPLOMACY

Chile Withdrawing Consulates

Santiago de Chile, Sept. 5.

It is reported that the Chilean Government is shortly issuing instructions for the abolition of all Consulates in the Far East, with the exception of the headquarters at Shanghai and Yokohama.

It is presumed that the decision has been taken on the score of economy. — Reuter.

BANKS URGED TO EXTEND CREDIT

Washington, Sept. 5.

Growing appreciation of the difficulties confronting the recovery campaign is felt throughout circles in closest touch with business conditions and it is the general opinion that a big expansion of credit is necessary to keep the prosperity push moving forward.

President Roosevelt is now embarked on a credit expansion policy and he is urging the banks to co-operate to the limit.

A letter from President Roosevelt was read to-day at the convention of the Bankers' Association which is being held in Chicago, in the course of which the President made a specific appeal for the granting of credits for industrial purposes.

The Ford battle with General Hugh Johnson, on the code issue witnessed another development to-day, according to a report from Detroit stating that it is understood that Mr. Henry Ford has increased the minimum daily wage of four dollars by eighty cents. — Reuter.

FORD GIVEN 24 HOURS.

Washington, Sept. 5. President Roosevelt to-day met the Recovery Council and discussed with them the domestic situation.

Mr. Ford, who is still standing out against the motor code is expected to be given at least another twenty-four hours in which to join the movement. — Reuter.

BOMB-THROWING INCIDENT

Cordon Thrown Round Ford Works

New York, Sept. 5.

A cordon of special guards has been thrown round the Ford Works at Edgewater, New Jersey, according to the Daily News, in consequence of two attempts at bomb throwing by radicals. — Reuter.

STOCK MARKETS IMPROVE

BRITISH INVESTMENTS CLOSE STRONG

London, Sept. 5. The stock markets closed better to-day. British funds improved with a lean 8 1/2 per cent at 100 1/2. While Home Railways and strong and strong were up 1 1/2 per cent. — Reuter.

CUBA COUP SUCCEEDS

N.C.O. NOW COMMANDER IN CHIEF

SENOR CESPIDES RESIGNS

Havana, Sept. 5.

The Cespides Government has been swept away in a wave of popular approval of the revolutionary uprising by the lower ranks of the Army and Navy.

The well-organised coup finds an N.C.O. in charge of the country's affairs, Sergeant Batista having been appointed commander-in-chief. A revolutionary committee of nineteen which was formed, appointed a deputation of five members, who called upon Dr. Cespides y Ortiz at the Presidential Palace and demanded his resignation.

President Cespides accepted the position and resigned after three short weeks in office.

OFFICERS ARRESTED.

Almost complete absence of bloodshed was the feature of the revolution, although Sergeant Batista ordered the arrest of all officers in the police, the army and the navy immediately the success of the coup was assured.

The only serious disorder is reported from Santiago de Cuba where the revolution appears to have been tied for an excuse to wreak further vengeance upon prominent officials connected with the hated Machado secret police. Four members of the police were murdered by the mob, which looted the armoury.

Sergeant Batista's avowed objective is the establishment of a "truly revolutionary government." — Reuter.

ROOSEVELT TAKES ACTION

FOUR WARSHIPS SENT TO CUBA

Washington, Sept. 5. President Roosevelt has returned from his week-end holiday and immediately discussed the Cuban situation with the State Department.

Two United States destroyers, the Sturtevant and the McFarland, have reached Cuba and it is believed that President Roosevelt is prepared to send other warships if it becomes necessary, in addition to the four already despatched. — Reuter.

PLANES SENT TO BORDER

AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION

Vienna, Sept. 5.

Seven aeroplanes have left Vienna for Innsbruck to reinforce the troops guarding the Austro-German frontier.

The machines are privately owned as the peace treaties prohibit Austria from employing military aeroplanes.

ENGLAND'S FINANCES

LATEST TREASURY RETURNS

London, Sept. 5.

The latest Treasury returns show that the primary revenue for the current financial year up to September 2, amounted to £241,187,046. At the corresponding date of last year the amount was £238,234,760. The primary revenue for the current year up to September 2, amounted to £241,187,046. ## AMERICAN NAVAL PETTY OFFICER UNDER ARREST

WIFE STABBED IN SHANGHAI

SURPRISE VISIT FROM TSINGTAO

VICTIM IN GRAVE CONDITION

Shanghai, Sept. 6.

Chief Petty Officer George Danko, of the United States Navy, has been taken into custody following a domestic quarrel which resulted in the stabbing of his wife.

Mrs. Danko, a pretty 26-year-old Russian woman, is lying gravely wounded in hospital. She is not expected to live.

Danko himself took his wife to hospital after stabbing her during a bitter quarrel.

He was stationed in Tsingtao for the summer, but he apparently heard something which caused him to desert his ship and to leave at once for Shanghai.

Travelling by railway, via Tsinanfu and Pukow, he arrived in Shanghai yesterday morning and went at once to the house where his wife is alleged to have been staying with a Russian.

ARRESTED IN HOSPITAL.

After an altercation, it is alleged that Danko stabbed his wife in the abdomen with a knife. He seems to have been overcome with remorse at the outcome and frantically took steps for her conveyance to hospital.

He was arrested there by the police. Later in the day, the police handed Petty Officer Danko over to the American authorities, but no formal charge has yet been laid. — Reuter.

ARCHBISHOP OF BRISBANE

DEATH OF GERALD SHARP

(Our Own Correspondent).

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1931. Received September 6, 6.10 p.m.)

Brisbane, Sept. 5. The death has taken place of the Most Rev. Gerald Sharp, Archbishop of Brisbane, at the age of 68.

Educated at St. John's College, Cambridge (Somerset Exhibitioner, B.A. (Classical Tripos) 1880, and M.A. in 1910), Archbishop Sharp was ordained in 1889, and was successively curate of St. Andrew's, Taunton from 1889 to 1893 and of Holy Innocents' Ham-mersmith from 1893 to 1908.

From this date until 1910 he was Vicar of Whitby, York, and in 1909 was Proctor in Convocation for the Archbishop of Ripon. He was Bishop of New Guinea from 1910 to 1921 and was then appointed to be Archbishop of Brisbane.

VAST TOLL OF HURRICANE

CALL SENT FOR TROOPS

New York, Sept. 5.

Reports are pouring in detailing the vast toll of the hurricane which ravaged the Bahamas, Cuba and the coast of Texas.

The town of Brownsville was practically wrecked and thousands were rendered homeless. Hundreds of casualties occurred as a result of falling debris.

The town now stands in the centre of fifty square miles of floods.

Only three buildings are standing at Raymondville.

Many were killed and injured at Harlingen, from where has come a request for troops to preserve order.

BAHAMAS REPORT.

London, Sept. 5. Reporting further on the effect of the hurricane of September 4th, the Officer Administering the Government of the Bahamas says that the hurricane passed westwards through the North West Channel about 35 miles north of Nassau, devastating the settlements at northern end of Eleuthera, which he visited by air.

Property at Harbour Island suffered considerable damage and people have sustained injuries at Bogue, "whither I have sent Doctor but I was relieved to find so little damage considering the violence of gale." — British Wireless.

MR. NORMAN DAVIS IN ENGLAND

Spending Ten Days on Disarmament Talks

London, Sept. 5.

Mr. Norman Davis, America's roving Ambassador, landed at Plymouth to-day.

It is learned that he will be staying in England for ten days prior to proceeding to Geneva via Paris. In an interview with Reuter, Mr. Davis said there was no change in the attitude of the United States towards disarmament, except that they felt even more keenly the great importance of the success of the Disarmament Conference.

FASHION NOTES

Evening Gowns More Elaborate

(From a Paris Correspondent)

Bustle-bows have flattened and decreased in size, although they are still to be seen here and there, set usually on the lower part of the skirt in the old fashion of the 'seventies. The backs of evening gowns formal or informal, continue to be more elaborate than the fronts. Paris ties its evening gowns at the back, and sometimes also at the neck. She uses spaghetti, poplins, and capesleeves, short, all the way round boleros, and deep belts.

There are few full sleeves to be seen, many ruffles, and line, line, line, and practically nothing else.

Scarves continue to please, and great originality has been displayed in them. The new triple scarves in crepe-satin or crepe-de-chine and in three colours are decidedly chic.

Feather toques have been worn before, but Paris has again produced something new in this line. Feather toques which fit closely to the head and cover all the hair are being worn by many women, and they give the appearance of a feather bob. A new toque is composed of green feathers with a perfectly natural-looking cock's tail at the back, or a feather toque can have, as trimming, a bird's head with a sharp beak and brilliant green eyes. Some of the new summer hats seen are of corded muslin, shirred in circular rows, with a close-cap effect underneath.

Cotton evening frocks are popular. They are in plain, or flowered, or embroidered organdie, or in dotted Swiss.

Substantial nets and laces will take an important part in frocks designed for the summer season. Apple-green is a favourite colour for these airy-fairy dresses.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

Triply Smart for These Summer Evenings

NEW in three ways is this smart velvet evening wrap. First, it's a swaggy coat, throwing to the winds the broad-shouldered, puffed-sleeved styles. Second, it has graceful, loose, three-quarters sleeves, with double bandings of elegant sable. Third, it has the new and outstanding colour—smoke grey.

There is distinguished originality to the neckline of this wrap. The velvet is cut to make a big, crushed bow, which pulls through a loop to flare out over one shoulder, with the other side of the front draped toward the loop. There is just the suggestion of a little standing collar in the back.

The wrap itself is cut on swinging lines and is the new three-quarters length. It combines all the grace of the cape with the advantages and practicality of a coat.

It is worn over a dress of pale amber flat crepe, which makes a very new colour scheme with the smoke grey of the wrap.

COLOUR-MIXING

(From a Paris Correspondent)

The whole gamut of pale beiges and greys, veering towards pearly tones, are big colour leaders.

Blues, greens, mauves, yellows, and pink vie with rich, tropical shades of the same colours. There are heaps of white, black, and dark blue, dead black, or white all alone, or combined with colours, and navy blue in quantities.

Colour-mixing in a dress or coat is prevalent. Dresses have yokes, harnesses, waists, and sleeves in contrasting colours. Coats are made of wool and satin combined, and wool and linen suit is seen. The cotton and linen suit is still very popular. Few of them are done in dark, practical colours, they are mostly in fragile pastels, like blue, pink, and lilac-green.

Blouses with these pale suits are invariably dark or bright, and always in a deeper tone than the jacket or skirt. A blouse which is very fashionable this season, and goes with cotton suits, is made of dark coloured organdie, or other transparent materials. These organdie blouses have either very short sleeves, like a sports shirt, or they have regulation men's shirt sleeves with cuff, and cuff-links.

Waistcoat blouses without sleeves are being made of plaid, checked or stripe cotton, in gingham or taffetas weaves. Blouses of cotton crepe are very smart. Dark cotton blouses are worn with some of the smartest suits.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart.

You can't be a dainty miss if you miss many of the steps to daintiness!

Some of the things which stamp you as a well-groomed woman take practically no time at all. Once you get into the habit of always being daintily "turned out," you won't be at all comfortable unless you feel and look immaculate.

Shaving under your arms is probably one of the better known steps to daintiness. Yet there are many women who neglect this small chore. It really takes very little of your time. Once a week is often enough for most women.

Always use deodorants under your arms. You can get a deodorant stick which can be carried in your purse. Use it often.

Shoes keep their shape and look neat if you put shoe trees in them. Always take them off as soon as you get home from work. Put their shoe trees in them and wipe off the dust and loose dirt before you put them in the closet.

Air your party slippers in the sun the morning after you have worn them. When they are thoroughly aired, place a small bag of sachet in the toe of each slipper and put them in your shoe bags in the closet.

SKIRTS TO THE ANKLE

(From a Paris Correspondent)

Paris has accepted the ankle-length skirt for anything that could be dubbed formal, either afternoon or evening. You see them under dinner-tables, or on the dance-floor.

Printed, silk, rather than chiffon dresses with ankle-length skirts and either matching jackets, or little wraps of transparent material, are fashionable. Pure white prints on dark grounds and scattered flower-prints lead.

The clothes that have an atmosphere of the 1900 era are numerous. Great popularity is given to wide-brimmed hats strewn with flowers or ribbon, and foolish little bonnets of lace, both of that era. Vells, too, are hung over any kind of millinery creations. Dead, black frocks of chiffon, starched organdie, and such semi-transparent stuffs, are right on top of the dizzy peaks of Paris chic for afternoon and evening.

Sachet bags cost very little these days. Keep one in your handkerchief box, several among your household linens and a few here and there in your lingerie drawer. It gives you an immediate sense of daintiness to get into the habit of using sachet bags.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Dixie's department store, married DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. They keep their marriage secret. Dick opposes Eve's continued employment but she is determined to go on working.

On her wedding night Eve is sent to New York to meet FLEDA CARTER, dress buyer. There Eve meets THORON REED, who is much attracted by her. She visits IRENE PRENTISS, former schoolmate who is playing the stock market.

A week later Eve returns to Lake City to find a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, at the office. Eve and Dick take an apartment in an old-fashioned house. Eve becomes nervous from worry and Dick takes her on a weekend trip to the little town of Danville, in an antique shop there Eve admires several pieces of furniture. Dick says they can not afford them but when Eve leaves she tells the shop owner she will send for them later.

CHAPTER XIV

Christmas fell on Tuesday that year and Eve was overjoyed when Mr. Barnes said that she could have Monday as a holiday and thus be able to spend Christmas with her parents 600 miles away. Dixie's was open until nine o'clock each evening of the week before Christmas and Eve was obliged to spend at least part of every evening at the office. Dick agreed without objection to come down town to have dinner with her those nights.

Saturday with the last task completed, Eve said goodbye to the others in the office, wished them a Merry Christmas, and left to meet Dick. On their way to the train they posted their marriage announcements to Eve's friends in Lake City. Those for the home folks had been sent a week earlier.

Eve felt a mixture of apprehension and relief after the announcements were mailed. But at least there was nothing to worry about for the present and she boarded the train with a light heart. Tomorrow she would see her parents again and Dick would be with her.

Henry Bayless met them at the station Sunday morning. Eve smiled her father first and gulped as her eyes filled with tears. Then she hurried forward and kissed him while he struggled for composure.

Partings and meetings after long separation always affected Henry Bayless. His eyes were blurry and he swallowed hard. Then he welcomed Dick with a hearty handshake and felt a glow of friendship in that firm clasp. Hank trusted few men until they proved themselves but his instinct told him Dick Rader was all right.

It had snowed heavily overnight and Hank drove carefully. He was proud of his new car and boasted to Dick of the number of years he had driven the old one.

The Bayless home was in an old section of the city on a tree-lined street. "Nice here in the summer," said Hank as he drove into the yard. Dick saw a modest house of the seven-room variety with side porch and a low attic over the kitchen. Eve's mother, rosy and smiling, beamed a welcome from the doorway.

Dick felt the spirit of Christmas for which he had long been homesick. He accompanied his father-in-law to the woodshed and helped him nail together a stand for the Christmas tree. Later he helped Eve trim the tree. He put extra leaves in the dining room table to accommodate the guests and when Eve's sister, Esther, arrived with her husband and child, the baby held out her arms to Dick and seemed to prefer him to anyone else. Later, to the child's intense delight, Dick made a snow man.

Eve's grandmother, accompanied by the son with whom she lived, came for dinner. Grandmother Bayless, little, spry and yet always complaining, enjoyed the day enormously. "I have lived a great many years," she said, "but I declare to goodness no one ever surprised me as much as Eve does. That announcement now—coming with a Christmas greeting! 'Twas right odd! I thought to myself, 'That's just like Eve.' Seems like you picked out a right nice man, though. I know you must have asked him; he doesn't look as though he was bold enough to ask you."

After dinner they all gathered in the old parlour and Esther played the piano while the others sang Christmas carols. Then the gifts were distributed. Dick, who had been alone at Christmas for the last 10 years, was amazed at the unselfish generosity displayed. Accustomed to paying his way and expecting favours from no one, he was touched and pleased to see how he was accepted and included in the group as one of the family.

Grandmother Bayless, in particular, amused him. She brought Eve a handsome quilt of intricate "log cabin" design which she had made herself and then grumbled when she saw the exquisitely coloured rag rugs which Eve's mother had given to Dick.

"H-m!" Grandmother declared. "Now I know why Kate was so overhastily busy dyeing and sewing all those rags that she couldn't even take time to visit with a person!"

Dick surprised Eve with his gift—a beautifully designed dinner ring set with diamonds. "We were engaged and married all in one breath," Eve explained to her mother, "and I asked to have only the wedding ring."

That evening the whole family bundled into heavy wraps and rode out to "Cousin Myrtle's" in Benchwood. There, in a modern suburb, Cousin Myrtle and her family lived in a house of Normandy type. There was a tower with a winding, wrought iron stair and casement windows. Through diamond-shaped panes of glass the lights of an outdoor Christmas tree twinkled. The beautifully furnished home had not been built by wealth but rather by years of hard work combined with thrift and careful planning.

Dick felt himself attracted to all of Eve's relatives who seemed so friendly and merry. The next morning he built a crate to hold their gifts. "It's such fun," the cousins had declared, "to celebrate Christmas and a marriage at the same time." There were shells pink dishes, an onyx base lamp and a portable radio. There were exquisite silver pieces and an electric waffle iron.

Monday evening Esther invited a crowd of young people—all of them old friends of Eve's—to her home. There was bridge with a buffet supper and music afterward.

Then Christmas night the whole Bayless family escorted Eve and Dick to the station. "Eve," said her mother a moment before the train arrived, "here is an extra little present for you. Buy yourself some nice silver or something you really want with it. And don't tell your Pa! I saved it myself." It was a $50 bill.

Eve was awake and had eaten breakfast long before the train reached Lake City next morning. She was filled with anxiety. By the time she reached the office the store would have been open for some time and she would have to face everyone at once. They would all know about her marriage. She wondered how they would greet her and what new complications she would have to face.

Would Barnes be nice about it or would he be afraid her work would reflect a divided interest? How would the girls take the news? Marya would be sweet, she knew. But Monna Allen?

Eve's trepidation increased later when she entered the store. Mr. Barnes had given her permission to arrive late, inasmuch as her train did not reach Lake City until 10 o'clock. A throng of after-the-holiday shoppers already was engaging the attention of the clerks, but Eve felt all eyes focused on herself. She nodded to several acquaintances as she hurried along toward the elevator. Her knees were weak by the time she entered the advertising office.

"Eve!" shrieked Arlene Smith, darting up from her typewriter and flinging her arms about Eve's slight form. "Congratulations, darling!"

Marya looked up from the evening slippers she was sketching. She arose and with dignity extended her hand and kissed Eve. "I am so happy for you," she said, smiling. Eve never remembered what she answered. She thought vaguely, "What deep dimples Marya has!"

Monna Allen assumed a bored expression. She remained at her desk and as Eve passed she glanced up and returned her greeting with a "Good morning, Mrs. Rader." The words came as a distinct thrust. Strange as it seemed to Eve then, she had never thought of being called anything but "Miss Bayless" or "Eve" by her business associates.

To her intense relief Mr. Barnes was in consultation and she had time to regain her composure before facing him. As Eve opened her desk and lifted out sketches and notes she answered Arlene's questions and learned that the marriage announcement had caused pleasant excitement in the office.

Arlene and Marya said they hoped Eve would continue her

MUCH DAMAGE ON WESTERN COAST

Tokyo, Sept. 5. A typhoon struck the Western half of Japan last night flooding about thirty thousand houses in Osaka and over a thousand houses in Tokyo.

Many small fishing boats were destroyed in Kyushu, while the railway service was interrupted in Korea, where about fifty houses have collapsed or were washed away.

work. Monna Allen permitted one corner of her mouth to lift in a scornful quiver.

The office boy entered then, almost buried under the stack of newspapers he was carrying. He tossed the papers on a large flat-topped desk and smiled brightly as he greeted Eve. Approaching her desk, he scowled darkly and whispered, "Don't let Miss Allen get your job. She's counting on it!"

How to PREVENT Childhood Ailments.

Because it is a vital truth that prevention is better than cure, countless parents all over the world give their little ones an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. In the old days a weekly dose of castor oil or other purgative was a common practice. But nowadays parents do not need to torture the little ones with these harsh, crude purgatives. The modern remedy is Baby's Own Tablets.

To avoid many of the ills of childhood parents should take special note of a child's natural functions. At the first sign of constipation or loss of appetite or general "off colour" a dose of Baby's Own Tablets will immediately put matters right. In this way Baby's Own Tablets prevent ailments from taking hold, and much pain, worry and expense are avoided.

For children who suffer from stomach or bowel troubles, flatulence, indigestion, cramp, colic, feverishness, colds, diarrhoea or worms there is nothing more effective or more pleasant to take than this infantile remedy. Designed from a doctor's prescription Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely safe and harmless. You can rely with every confidence upon Baby's Own Tablets to keep your children well. All chemists can supply you.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form. One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET EASY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was easy yesterday. Business done 1,260,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market:

With the exception of gold mining shares the list was aimless all day long closing lower due to heavy selling and disappointment over the failure of post Labour Day market to develop expected strength and activity. Carloadings.—For the week ending August 26th were reported at 631,998 carloads, a decrease of 2,847 carloads from the preceding week.

Our New York cable (This Morning) Stocks: An inactive market dominated by disappointed selling and tired longs. Expect better support to-morrow. Wheat: Bullish Argentine advice. Strong Liverpool cable failed to attract broad buying power. Market declines largely because of lack of interest shown. News Bulletin. Cotton: Hedge offerings throughout the day were met by small trade buying, mostly on the downward scale. Expect lighter hedging during the balance of the week but demand appears to be awaiting possible incentive from the Government's report. Private estimates so far average 12,800,000 bales. Silver: The market was firm following advance over the weekend in London and Shanghai. Our New York cable (Last Night) Stocks: The market is dull, slightly easy and featureless. Favour trading viewpoint temporarily. Wheat: Cables higher on Argentine drought and confidence is returning. News and technical situation suggest higher prices. Cotton: The market opened lower despite better Liverpool advice and possible crop damage due to Texas storm. A quiet market expected pending Government's crop estimate on September 8th.

Invest in Afforestation

THE world is using up its timber supply much faster than it is being replenished.

For this reason, the pine (most important of the commercial softwoods) has an assured future.

Afforestation is, therefore, a splendid investment opportunity. In brief, this is what you are offered by N. Z. Perpetual Forests, Ltd.:

For every £30 invested, you become owner of a freehold acre of land, fully planted with pine trees, the title of which is held by The Australasian Bondholders' Trust Co., Ltd., Trustee for Investors. The estimated value of the timber is £250 after approximately 12 years, if marketed as pulpwood. Moreover, you are fully protected as to safety. For further details address

XIXth ARMY RETREAT

FALLING BACK FROM REDS

It was learned this morning that the XIXth Route Army forces engaged against the Reds in the vicinity of Fochow are being pushed back.

The 56th Division is now said to be fortifying Kienningfu. There are rumours that the retirement is largely the result of unfriendly relations between the 56th Division under General Liu Ho-ting, which has been holding Shaoguo, Kienningfu and Yenping, and the 2nd (temporarily incorporated) Division under General Lu Hsiang-peng, holding Tsinglo, Shaohien and Yun-an.

Rivalry between them is said to have been intense and it is alleged that as a result of this friction, their resistance to the Communists has not been so vigorous as it might have been.

ISUDZA COMING HERE

The Japanese cruiser Isudza will arrive in the Colony on Friday next on an informal visit. The warship was to have come to Hongkong last week but in view of the seriousness of the Fukien situation she was diverted to Fochow to watch Japanese interests. She left on Friday last and has been stationed at Amoy for the last two or three days. The Japanese gunboat Saza will come from Canton to join the Isudza in Hongkong.

SOLICITOR A DEFENDANT

MR. M. K. LO'S UNMUZZLED DOGS

Mr. M. K. Lo, the local solicitor, was among the defendants summoned before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning in connection with muzzling offences.

Mr. Lo was fined $16 for allowing two unmuzzled dogs to be in Nettlesworth Path near Robinson Road.

Mr. Ho Leung, Tylan Villa, summoned for allowing his dog unmuzzled in Island Road was fined $8, while similar fines were imposed on Mr. J. H. McLeod, 7, Conduit Road, and Mr. W. Hammond, 2, Fung-Fai Terrace.

Daily Singh, 370, Lockhart Road, was fined $11, for having no licence for the dog and allowing it abroad without a muzzle. Defendant stated the dog was only three months old.

The Magistrate: Even then it needs a muzzle.

CANE FOR BOYS

DEFENDANT PLEADS FOR LENIENCY

A Chinese boy, a member of the Street Boys' Club, sentenced by Mr. Wynne-Jones yesterday to four strokes of the cane, ran away from the Central Police Court without being thrashed. He was found in the afternoon.

This morning, Sub-Inspector Smith told the magistrate that the lad, when brought back, stated he would rather lose four dollars bail than be caned.

Magistrate (to defendant): Four strokes of the cane. You can have your four dollars back. Another boy, who had fallen into Police hands on three previous occasions for stealing, was ordered to receive twelve strokes of the cane for theft of a quantity of cigarettes. He went down on his knees and pleaded for leniency.

The Magistrate remarked defendant was a very naughty boy.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

BRITISH DIPLOMAT AND WIFE

Tokyo, Sept. 1. Mr. T. M. Snow, the British Charge d'Affaires, and Mrs. Snow had a very narrow escape from death on Lake Chuzenji, near Nikko, yesterday afternoon.

The boat in which they were at the time capsized, according to word received here, and the couple were in imminent danger of drowning. A sight-seeing motor boat, which happened to be in the neighbourhood at the time, rushed to the scene and picked them up.

BREEZE BETWEEN COUNSEL

INTERRUPTIONS IN SASSOON CASE

Breezes between counsel occurred in the claim by David Sassoon and Co. Ltd., against the Yan On Firm for $1,910.76 which was before the Chief Justice at the Supreme Court this morning.

Constant interruptions at yesterday's hearing by Mr. Duncan McNeill, appearing for defendants, were continued this morning and Mr. H. G. Sheldon said: "My Lord, may I be allowed to finish my case without continued interruptions from my friend. A gross allegation has been made and will be refuted."

His Lordship signified his agreement. Plaintiff's claim was for non-acceptance and nonpayment of goods ordered on contract by defendants in 1931, and eventually sold by plaintiffs by public auction in January this year. The amount claimed was the difference between the auction price and contract price plus interest and commission.

Wong Hok-chi, plaintiff's comrade, spent five hours in the witness box yesterday and an hour to-day.

Allegations were made by Mr. McNeill that witness had not "put the right amounts in their proper places" and suggested that there had been misappropriation.

Witness was closely re-examined this morning by Mr. Sheldon on the subject of accounts and His Lordship intimated that he was satisfied with the evidence on that point.

Mr. McNeill said his submission would be that the amounts set down as the proceeds from Lammer's auction were actually the proceeds of four of the contracts.

For the defence, Mr. McNeill said his client had been criticised for adopting every possible defence but in explanation of this he wished to point out that his client felt very strongly on the writ of attachment which was obtained against him in January without his having an opportunity to show cause against it. The presence of the bailiffs in his house did him credit a great deal of harm. He admitted that there was no impropriety in the action taken, however.

Mr. McNeill alleged that certain papers were withheld by Mr. Wong.

Mr. Sheldon protested that this should have been put to the witness to answer.

His Lordship agreed that such a question might have been put.

Mr. McNeill: If I get many more interruptions, I shall get very tired of it and shall cease to conduct the defence.

To The Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir,—I desire sincerely to thank the Judges in your recent Amateur Photographic Competition for awarding me two first prizes. Naturally I am extremely gratified to know that my work met with such success.

I feel, however, that I should like to hand back one of the prizes to be re-awarded to one of the competitors whose pictures met

COURT TAKES LENIENT VIEW

UNUSUAL MUI TSAI CASE IN COURT

An interesting point arose at the Kowloon Magistracy before Mr. Butters this morning when a woman, Chan Sik-yu, was summoned by the S.C.A. for keeping an unregistered mui tai.

Appearing on behalf of the defendant, Mr. C. Y. Kwan pleaded guilty to a technical offence.

Sub-Inspector Fraser, of the S.C.A., stated that defendant had a registered mui tai at her residence besides the girl in question. The girl in this case was very well-treated, being well-fed and well-clothed, and had herself expressed a desire to remain with her mistress.

Mr. Kwan said defendant had no idea that she was committing an offence until he pointed out to her that under the Ordinance, it was an offence even under the circumstances in which she was keeping the girl. He was instructed to say that the mother of the girl had known the defendant for a number of years, and for two years was hard pressed for money. Defendant offered to let her have the money ($80) if she would allow her, daughter, who was then 12 years of age, to work for her until the girl was 10 years of age. That period of services would automatically wash off the debt. This was agreed to and since then the girl had been with the defendant.

NO INTENTION TO EVADE.

Mr. Kwan also pointed out that the registered mui tai was registered two years ago—about the same time that the girl in this case was taken by the defendant. He submitted that if there was intention of evading registration, defendant would not have registered one and not the other. This would go to prove that defendant was not aware that she was committing an offence.

He himself would not have thought she was committing an offence against the mui tai Ordinance had it not been for this paragraph in the Ordinance:—

"A mui tai includes every female domestic servant whose employer for the time being shall have made, directly or indirectly, within or without the Colony, any payment to any person for the purpose of securing the services of such female as a domestic servant."

This paragraph, Mr. Kwan submitted, was not meant to deal with a case of such circumstances as those before the Court. The present case was peculiar, and the greatest argument for the defendant was that the S.C.A. did not object to the girl remaining with the defendant. He thought that caution would meet the case. A fine of $50 was imposed, the magistrate remarking that he was taking a lenient view of the case.

with the approval of the judges. After viewing the exhibits, I should very much like one of the commended pictures to receive a prize, and therefore suggest that the judges be kind enough to select an entry from the pictures they commended, and award the camera which I won as first prize in Section 4.

In conclusion, I should like to congratulate the Telegraph on the excellent organisation in connection with the competition.

Yours etc.

HENRY DEJUNG.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

WHERE YOU SEE PERSECUTION, THERE IS MORE THAN A PROBABILITY THAT TRUTH LIES ON THE PERSECUTED SIDE.—Latimer.

Lui Sai-sang, an earth carrier, was yesterday injured by a rock being dislodged from the hillside while at work on the new Shingmun Road.

Ho Sai-mul, aged 17, is in hospital in a serious condition resulting from a fall from the roof of No. 15, Yee Wo Street, where he had been visiting friends, yesterday.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., was among the passengers sailing aboard the Asama Maru for Shanghai, Japan and the United States this morning. Mr. J. A. Shaw was also aboard.

Cheung Chit, a dockyard coolie, appeared before Mr. Schofield this morning, charged with indecent assault at 10, Electric Street, on August 3. Defendant denied the charge, and hearing was fixed for the afternoon of September 14.

Accepting the defendant's plea that the principal tenant was away at Canton, Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning cautioned Chinese woman charged with keeping a lodging house for prostitution at 29, Gough Street. His Worship made the usual order for closure. A married woman was fined $75 on a similar charge in respect of 18, Peel Street.

To-morrow marks the opening of the Parace New Year, 1933.

The P. & O. liner Carthage left Shanghai for this Port yesterday at 4 p.m. and is due here on the 8th instant at about 7 a.m.

During the three days ended last Monday, two cases of typhoid and one case of meningitis were reported to the local health authorities.

The forthcoming wedding is announced of Miss Vida Rosamond Harrison, confidential assistant and stenographer to the Colonial Secretary, and Mr. Charles Bentley Terrell, of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade return during August for the New Territories shows a total of 11,226 cases treated. Of the total 2,117 cases were treated in Cheung Chow, while Tsun Wan, Fanling, Shataukok, San Tin and Kam Tin had over a thousand each.

The governor general of Formosa will ask the attendance of Japanese consuls at Amoy, Fochow, Canton, and Hongkong at a conference to be held for three days commencing September 21 to exchange views with them in regard to the situation in South China. It was officially announced by the Formosan Government General recently.

THE BUSY BEES WORKING PARTY

GRATEFUL THANKS FROM ENGLAND

The excellent charitable work carried out by the Busy Bees working party, of which Mrs. H. Westlake is the acting Honorary Secretary, is handsomely acknowledged in letters just received from St. Dunstan's and Mrs. K. Collett, on behalf of the Middlesbrough Settlement.

The Busy Bees have sent £55 to St. Dunstan's this year, and Sir Ian Fraser, expressing thanks, says: "As the War recedes it becomes increasingly difficult to maintain our income. In those circumstances you will readily understand that the sympathetic and practical help of people who realise that our responsibilities did not end with the War is keenly appreciated. Please be assured that the money will be the means of bringing happiness to those who suffered severely in the War."

Acknowledging the receipt of $31.1.1 collected by the Busy Bees for the wives and children of unemployed men, Mrs. K. Collett says that Lady Southorn authorised the forwarding of the money to a settlement in Middlesbrough, in the heart of the worst hit industrial area.

"The tragedy of Middlesbrough is that it is a one-trade town and that since its trade has been shattered for ten years, unemployment is not only tremendous by long-standing but also affects 75 per cent. of the population."

"I should be glad if all those who took part in that very successful function in Hongkong would know with what deep gratitude the money has been received in Middlesbrough."

Mrs. Collett encloses a letter of thanks from the warden of the Settlement, outlining the circumstances of two of the cases which will be directly helped by the gift from Hongkong.

WHARVES' GANG AT WORK

EXTORTING MONEY FROM PASSENGERS

"He is a member of a gang which hangs about the wharves posing as boarding house runners. They look for strangers and act as guides," said Detective-Inspector Elston prosecuting Chan Kau, 24, before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of obtaining by false pretences 60 cents Chinese currency from a Hakka newspaper editor.

Accused, who had a previous conviction for unlawful possession was sent to prison for two months.

Complainant, accompanied by his sister, arrived from Swatow aboard the s.s. Svala, which berthed at the Douglas Wharf yesterday. They hired a coolie to carry the baggage from the wharf.

Defendant, with a party of others, approached them and pled for hire as coolie. He stated that it was the custom for all people leaving the wharf to give the Revenue officers 60 cents.

The editor refused and walked on. After they had gone a short distance, the defendant again accosted them, and the editor's sister, seeing trouble ahead, produced the money and gave it to the defendant. The latter complained that one of the coins was bad and the editor changed it for him. A district watchman on the look-out for pickpockets arrested the defendant.

AN AUDACIOUS THEFT

CANTON RESIDENT ROBBED

Canton, Sept. 5. An audacious theft was committed this morning at the residence of Mr. Hoffmeister, of Messrs. Spalinger and Co., with so far no arrests, although suspicion points strongly to two servants.

Early on, Mr. Hoffmeister rang for his servant who attended on his wants as usual. An hour later on forthcoming and on investigation led to the discovery that both his house-boy and coolie had departed bag and baggage.

Immediate survey of his rooms led Mr. Hoffmeister to the discovery of the disappearance of $150 in cash which he had had the night before in his coat pocket and a silver cocktail-shaker. Suspicion that the theft was the work of the boy is strengthened by the fact that Mr. Hoffmeister the night before had spoken strongly to the boy for dereliction of duty and the decision to dismiss him was practically arrived at. ## CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Robert Armstrong has the leading role in "The Billion Dollar Scandal," drama of governmental intrigue which comes to-morrow to the Queen's. He is featured in the film with Constance Cummings, Olga Baclanova, Frank Morgan, James Gleason, Irving Pichel and Warren Hymer.

Cast as an ex-convict with astounding ability as a masseur, Armstrong got in touch with Lars Svenson, a Swedish gentleman, and took a two-weeks intensive course in the profession.

The picture centres around three paroled convicts, who reveal a scheme connected by a group of financiers to make the government in a tremendous swindle. Armstrong, one of the trio, gets the information while acting as masseur for the leader of the financiers. The film reaches its climax in a Senatorial investigation chamber, where Armstrong, at risk of his freedom and his life, gives information which saves the United States billions of dollars.

"Dangerously Yours"

Warner Baxter, as a handsome, debonair, socially prominent jewel thief, and Miriam Jordan have the leading roles in the Fox Film production, "Dangerously Yours," coming on Thursday to the King's Theatre.

Set in the fashionable salons of metropolitan society, aboard a luxurious yacht and at a number of sparkling resorts, this picture portrays the romance between a finished jewel thief and the charming operative of an insurance company. The plot revolves around the plans of a woman to arrest a man and ends in an unexpected climax involving infatuation and love.

There are a number of hilarious sequences to which Herbert Mundin contributes his rare comic abilities. In support of Baxter, Miss Jordan and Mundin there is a cast of notable proportions that includes such well-known players as Florence Eldridge, wife of Frederic March, Florence Roberts, Nella Walker, Arthur Hoyt, Tyrrell Davis, Will Davidson and Mischa Auer.

Frank Tuttle, producer of dozens of successful pictures including his recent "The Big Broadcast," is the director. Horace Jackson, who adapted "Paris Bound," "Holiday" and "The Animal Kingdom" for the films, is author of the screen play which is taken from the novel by Paul Hervey Fox.

"Up for the Derby"

The combination of Sydney Howard and horse racing in "Up for the Derby" will delight you. Sydney Howard can make us laugh in spite of ourselves, and his tragic and triumphal adventures, both on and off the race course, afford him ample opportunity to show himself at his best. Now he and a pal bought a spavined two-year-old with a Derby engagement for fifty shillings right out of the stable; how they found

JAPANESE REPORT OF MEDIATORY EFFORT

Shanghai, Sept. 5.
A settlement of outstanding political issues between Nanking and Canton is being sought, according to a Japanese report from Tokyo, which says that information has been received from official circles there to the effect that Chiang Kai-shek has requested General Maurice Cohen, who is now in Hongkong, to approach Canton with this in view.
General Cohen was for some time adviser to the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen.—Reuter.

the money for its fodder and final forfeit; and how they won the great classic, you must come and see for yourself. You will see a real Derby race, too.

"Made on Broadway"

Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers are a most entertaining screen combination in "Made on Broadway," which has its final showings to-day.

With Montgomery filling the role of a young-man-about-Broadway and super-fixer of political schemes, and Miss Eilers as one of his synthetic creations brought to dazzling prominence from an obscure position as a waitress, there is not a dull moment in the entire picture. The action is fast from start to finish with a pleasing blend of comedy and drama through many sparkling situations.

Madge Evans as the ex-wife who tries to restrain Montgomery in his mad efforts to "fix" every political scheme in Manhattan, adds a charming touch of suave-sophistication to the cast. She is left in her handling of strong climaxes throughout the entire picture.

An exceptional supporting cast is headed by Eugene Palette in a strong comedy portrayal as a butler. C. Henry Gordon is polished and convincing in his role as Mayor Starling. Jean Parker, Ivan, Lobedoff, David Newell, Vince Barnett and Joseph Cawthon contribute excellent performances in small parts.

ARMS PARLEY

BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO CONFER

Paris, Sept. 5.
Great Britain and France will hold a conference in Paris on September 18 at which will be discussed the future of Austria, and at which America may be represented, according to an article published by Le Petit Parisien to-day.

It is expected, the paper adds, that Sir John Simon, Minister for Foreign Affairs, and Capt. Anthony Eden, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of this department, will meet M. Daladier and M. Paul-Boncour, Foreign Minister, while it is believed that Mr. Norman Davis, representing the United States, will also be in the conversations.

The Paris newspaper asserts that the representatives of the powers will discuss control and reduction of armaments and Central European economic reconstruction.

Negotiations, it is said, have been proceeding between Great Britain, France, the United States and Italy in these matters.

Although the Quai D'Orsay declares Le Petit Parisien's story is exaggerated, it is admitted there that Anglo-French conversations are to be held on September 18, and that they are principally concerned with disarmament with a view to preparing for resumption of the arms conference scheduled for October.—Reuter.

THE FRANC

Again there are rumours of an impending abandonment of the gold standard by France, the suggestion being that the budget deficit will compel such a step. Pressure from outside is increasingly strong, although it is claimed by French financial circles that it can largely be ignored in view of the fact that the greater part of France's export trade is conducted with her Colonies. It is still, however, believed in some circles that the franc cannot long resist the tendency of the rest of the world towards a gigantic experiment in controlled money, although they place greater stress on the internal conditions rather than to external pressure, and they see a fundamental weakness in the position of the franc. At the moment the French Treasury encounters no particular difficulty. But even on paper the budget, despite many promises, has not been balanced, and in the autumn it is certain that grave problems will present themselves to the French authorities. For more than a year the need of drastic retrenchment has been proclaimed. It was to have been the first task of the new Radical Government. Yet three governments followed, and although they each made an attempt to wipe out the deficit, they found themselves handicapped, first by the peculiar composition of the French Parliament, and second by the general disability under which popular parliaments suffer when it is necessary to retrench. Apart from the special situation of the French Government, it is frequently asked whether parliaments, which are willing enough to increase state liabilities in days of prosperity, are capable of decreasing them in days of adversity. They think of the electorate. Nevertheless, that electorate is composed not only of beneficiaries of state expenditure, but also of taxpayers; and the taxpayers in France are clamouring for some relief. It is calculated that there will be a deficit on next year's budget and on the railways of something like 11,000,000,000 francs unless there is decreased expenditure or increased taxation; and M. Daladier has announced that he will endeavour to effect Draconian reductions. In these circumstances, a governmental crisis is to be anticipated. The true solution, in the opinion of many deputies, consists in the formation of a government which would have a broader basis— which would be supported by most of the parties, including the Moderates. Such a government would act more boldly, since no particular party would be blamed for unpopular reforms. Unless a solution of this kind is found possible, the position of the franc will certainly be endangered before the end of the year. So that the problem of the future of the franc is not primarily financial—it is political.

NOTES OF THE DAY

REAL COURAGE

The successful dictator needs the wisdom of a Solomon, the thoroughness of a Napoleon, and the rash daring of a Caesar. Frankly, some people may have had doubts whether Herr Hitler possessed all these qualities, especially the rash daring of a Caesar. But now who can doubt it? Through Frau Goebbels, wife of his Minister of propaganda, Hitler now proposes to set up a government fashion bureau and become arbiter of dress to the German woman. Nobody can now question the daring of Herr Hitler, who proposes to tell 30,000,000 women what to wear, even through a feminine minister-without portfolio. But it is distinctly possible that it will not work. You can tell a man how to run his business. You can make him salute every dictator's underling that comes along. You can tell him to wear a black shirt, or a brown shirt, or even a nightshirt. But when it comes to telling a lady that she must wear a straw hat, or a felt hat, or a large hat, or a small hat, or no hat at all—well, we can think of many things that are just innocent fun beside that!

THE TARIFF TRUCE

Holland has given a start to denunciation of the Tariff Truce and its disintegration may be expected to follow rapidly. It has really ceased to have any value although it was probably necessary when drawn up at the instance of the United States in order to give the World Economic Conference a chance. It was designed merely to prevent its signatories from snatching at new tariff expedients, whether for bargaining purposes or otherwise, before the Conference met or while it was sitting. Without it, the temptation to such tactics would have been strong, and if any one Power succumbed to it conspicuously there might have been a landslide. Tariff extremists resented the Truce. But no country could not have stood outside without courting acute trouble. It was, however, agreed that the Truce could be ended at any time on a month's notice being given after July 31 and the only surprising thing is that its termination should have been delayed so long.

JAPAN AND BRITAIN

Anti-British feeling is still running strongly in certain circles in Japan. In any other country it would seem rather remarkable since the whole agitation arises directly from the fact that Japan is flooding the markets of the British Empire with ultra-cheap goods, being enabled to do so partly by low money wages paid in her highly-efficient factories, and partly because her currency is much more depreciated than it is in respect of its internal purchasing power. Not only for instance, can excellent Japanese all-wool socks be bought in London for 6d. a pair (some were recently shown at the House of Commons even cheaper), but in regions like tropical Africa some of the best of Lancashire's remaining textile markets are being siphoned from her. Japan's complaints arise from the measures taken by Britain to protect her industries.

SIMLA PARLEY

India has responded to the menace by stiff anti-Japanese duties, and in West Africa Britain has denounced a trade agreement so as to obtain (though not for twelve months) future liberty to do likewise. Unless some compromise agreement can be reached with Japan, there really seems no alternative to the multiplication of such measures far and wide. But direct negotiations are now arranged to take place in Simla and we hope that some friendly solution may emerge from them. The interview given by Mr. Sawada in Hongkong conveyed little concerning Japan's intentions, but he spoke of good will and friendship, which alone are likely to provide an amicable arrangement.

tion of a government which would have a broader basis— which would be supported by most of the parties, including the Moderates. Such a government would act more boldly, since no particular party would be blamed for unpopular reforms. Unless a solution of this kind is found possible, the position of the franc will certainly be endangered before the end of the year. So that the problem of the future of the franc is not primarily financial—it is political.

IS A HUSBAND'S PLACE AT HOME?

By LIONEL HALE

A PROFESSOR of Philosophy in Swansea has lately confessed a passion for house-work. He is perfectly content. I read (not without a certain amount of ill-natured laughter), to be left a grass widower for long stretches at a time because it "amuses him to deal with the household."

Two days later, a defendant in a London court was unmasked in his true colours as another of these homelovers. Oddly enough, his wife was pleading for a separation on the grounds of his cruelty. Even she, however, had to admit that "he was very house-proud." The professor had owned up only to spring-cleaning and redecoration, although he announced the praiseworthy intention of going in for cooking; the gentleman in court was a confirmed dressmaker as well. The magistrates decided that he could not be as cruel as his wife thought, and she is still in his home, listening to his blithe whistling as he scrubs the floor, or his gentle domestic crooning as he plies the needle.

THE HITLER PURGE

Hitler is driving the women of Germany back to their homes. From office and factory, from busy typewriters and whirling machines, they are returning to what their Dictator calls "their proper place." If Mr. Ramsay MacDonald took a high hand to-morrow, and the women of England returned to their homes under the compulsion of a severe Order in Council, there would be fearful struggles over the gas-cooker, and the most embittered rivalry between husband and wife about making the beds.

The Victorian ideal of the husband in the matter of the house was negative rather than positive. All that was then required of a man was that he should not be actively inimical to cleanliness, should not walk on the new, sky-blue, drawing-room carpet in muddy boots, and should not allow his cigar smoke to hang about the boudoir curtains.

All house commandments, as I say, were negative. Nowadays standards of active virtue are laid down for the husband. He must not only spare the carpet, but tuck it down; not only respect the curtains, but sew them and hang them up.

HERO AND HOUSEMAID.

This change in husbands I put down, dogmatically and recklessly, to the late war. I am aware that Mr. John Buchan has remarked somewhere that a good many things are now put down to the war that used to be attributed to original sin; but I persist in adding to the scapegoat's burdens. During the war, women stepped very gallantly out of their kitchens into Government offices: instead of tea-parties and scandal, they had committees and—more scandal. Men, on the other hand, joined the Army in France; and, as every body knows, a soldier when he is not fighting is scrubbing the floor of the sergeants' mess, or darning his own socks, or rolling his own palliase, or carrying slop-buckets. That is one of the things that has always struck me as unfair about the Army.

A man is expected to alternate between a hero and a housemaid.

All this time, women were in the rough and tumble of the civilian's life. They were wrangling with sub-contractors, or bickering with farm horses, or bullying the males who remained in Government departments. What a dreadful four years! The women learned to fight, and the men learned to wash up.

Judging from the latest pronouncements from Germany the war has taught the world very little; but it has apparently evolved the maxim on which the future of England may be based: the husband's place is in the home.

I, myself, if I may so far unvell my private life, am not a married man. Is it, I sometimes wonder, because I am not very good with my needle? Or when I have seized some small, soft hand, and murmured passionately "I am not worthy to black your boots," has my subsequent failure been due to the fact that the owner of the hand has doubted not only my worthiness, but my ability?

PRELIMINARY TO MARRIAGE BELLS.

For surely, if I am not able to black her boots, then I am almost certainly untrustworthy with the china and inartistic in the arrangement of the flowers.

I do not like the idea at all, if, when I have been brought up to expect women to look after the house, they turn the tables and expect to find the graceful, domestic virtues in me. In the benighted old times, when a husband was a bread-winner and not a potato-peeler, young men intending to marry were advised to ride over and surprise their loved ones unexpectedly—observing whether they were bright and cheerful and tidy about the house before breakfast, for instance.

HALE—HITLER.

Must I expect, when the time comes that some dear lady has begun to think seriously of me (over-looking my shameful weakness in the matter of blacking her boots), that I shall be liable to early morning visits just as I am coming down to breakfast, and that I shall be surprised by a charming but inquisitorial apparition, who will give me marks for being rosy and shaven, and take them off again because I have left last night's shirt in the middle of the bedroom floor? This is a very bleak prospect for me.

For if my wedding bells depend on such domesticity as keeping my own bedroom tidy, they will be, I fear, for ever mute.

On these lines, I would not hear my wedding bells ring for all the wives in the world, bread-winning as they might be.

In this matter, although I never thought to write the words, I am as one with Hitler.

The Very Idea!

THE GLACIAL AGE

By Eddie Kelly, Up the (North) Pole

THE other day we wrote something about George Bernard Shaw.

Which is as it should be. Nearly always we are short at this time of the month. So to-day our article is going to be the same way.

Besides, we always get this way in September. What with all the anxiety, wondering when the hot weather is going to end, whether we're going to get one of the free tickets to "Cavalcade," and whether the hotels will stop our chit account before the summer ends, we haven't much time to concentrate on writing.

Give us the good old winter any time. If there's one thing we regret, it's that we didn't live in the Glacial Age (between 45 and 70 among the Latin people).

It has been called an age of frigidity among the sexes, but we feel sure that this is an inaccuracy.

The inhabitants of the Glacial Age were the Glaciolithic man. Around him there was nothing but ice, which was obviously worthless without whiskey-soda and gimlets. So they invented the Hongkong Hotel.

Even to-day we have evidences of the Glacial Age during the winter in different parts of Europe, where water, which has stayed out in the cold and gone to sleep, has been known to turn into ice.

Which reminds us of an Eskimo woman, who, on entering her igloo, found her mate frozen in the arms of another woman. After beating them back into consciousness she said to her husband:

"Who was that lady I thawed you with?"

(Message from the Editor, following submission of above: You're wanting a holiday, Eddie, aren't you?)

Eddie: Yes, an ice long one.)

WHAT'S IN A NAME

When we first met our wife we used to call her Miss Whaletooth. Then we fell in love with her and called her Arabella. Within a week we were calling her "darling." We were married and she became "dear." Then just "Bell." But we overdid it last night. While we were asleep we called her "Jessie!"

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

HUNTING: Pursuit of young female of the species. Favourite Sabbath sport in Hongkong. The champions of the game are usually found in the lounge of the Hongkong Hotel or at Repulse Bay, but church chairs have provided more than one record beater.

SWIMMING: See SUN-BATHING.

SUN-BATHING: Seasonal recreation engaged in extensively by those who wish to show off their figures. Generally coloured a bright red in order to identify them.

BOWLING: See DRINKING or D. RINKING.

DRINKING: Most popular sport in Hongkong. Played with bottle, glass and chit book. Only skill required is ability to wield a stick, from centre of which protrudes small piece of lead. Also called LEAD SWINGING, LEAD SWILLING, LEAD PENCILLING, and LED TO BED.

HIKING: Hiking is what happens to all your joints and muscles when you go Hiking. See also POODLE-FAKING.

DANCING: Winter pastime. Similar to hiking, only difference being that females hike backwards, and males stand on their (female's) toes.

MOTORING: A form of Hunting. Pedestrians are substituted for foxes. See RUNNING, WALKING HOME, SKATING, and the Undertaker.

HORSE-RIDING: As practiced by the Elite. Stronous pastime, which consists of humping the lower end of the long wobbly bone with your head set on one end and your set on the other. The difference between HORSE-RIDING and HIKING is that you get blisters on your feet when HIKING.

"Ask him if he won't read this letter and see how much my last employer regretted losing my services."

NEW MINISTER TO CHINA

JAPAN SAID TO BE SUSPICIOUS

ASSOCIATION WITH GENEVA

Tokyo, Sept. 5. Japanese official circles are said to regard the appointment by the British Government of Mr. Alexander Cadogan as British Minister to China with suspicion.

It is inferred that the appointment of such a man as Mr. Cadogan, who is credited with deep knowledge of the situation in the Far East, following his very close connexion with the League of Nations, indicates a British intention to accelerate technical co-operation between China and Geneva and indirectly to strengthen Anglo-Chinese relations.

In view of this, the impending arrival of Dr. Rajchmann in China and Mr. T. V. Soong's unfriendly attitude towards Japan, the Japanese Government will not change its watchful policy towards China.

Another instance of Japan's concern over the appointment of Dr. Rajchmann as the League of Nations' technical adviser to China, is provided by the decision of the Japanese Foreign Office to send Mr. Sugimura to China. His task is said to be that of investigating whether Dr. Rajchmann's activities in China are really "non-political." Mr. Sugimura may be expected at Shanghai at the end of this month.—Central News Agency.

BRITAIN ATTACKED IN JAPAN

INDIAN AGITATORS' ATTEMPTS

Indian malcontents in Japan who for many years past have striven hard to win the sympathy and support of the Japanese people in their "fight for Indian freedom," have just added three English publications, issued at regular intervals, to their campaign of lecture tours, pamphlets (heretofore almost always in Japanese) and magazine articles.

One of these publications is called "World Federation" and its editor is Mahendra Pratap whose activities during the World War on behalf of the former German Kaiser at Kabul, are well known.

Another is a monthly pamphlet entitled "The New Asia." This is published both in English and Japanese, and proclaims itself as the "organ of the New Asia Association which stands for the complete independence of Asia."

Its editor and publisher is Rash Behari Bose, whose terrorist activities in India between the years 1912 and 1916 forced him eventually to flee from India.—Reuter.

London Children Healthier

AN ENCOURAGING REPORT

London. London children are becoming healthier.

The item of news is contained in the report of Sir Frederick Menzies, the School Medical Officer, in his report to the London County Council for the year 1932. Sir Frederick says:

"In 1932 the general improvement which had taken place during the preceding years has strikingly continued and new records have been achieved. Personal hygiene in particular has made noteworthy advance; the nutritional state of the child while in attendance at school has been maintained."

"The progress during school life is towards healthier conditions and the 'leaver' child is the healthiest of all the groups, both in boys and girls, save for a failure to maintain the improvement in dental conditions, and the continued slight increase of spinal curvature in the older girls, who, at the end of elementary school life, are growing faster than the boys."

Encouraging factors noted, however, are that the percentages of children with serious dental decay, adenoids and enlarged tonsils and lack of personal cleanliness were all the lowest ever recorded. Careful enquiry revealed that definitely undernourished children were fewer than one in 1,000.—Reuter.

ANTI-CHANGCHUN PLOT

CHINESE OFFICERS ARRESTED

Mukden, Sept. 5. The Press ban on news concerning an anti-Manchoukuo plot by Chinese soldiers was removed late last night.

Lieut.-Col. Shang Chiu-hsian, staff officer of the Chinese National Salvation Volunteer Army; Major-Gen. Pao Feng-lung and fifteen others were arrested by Major Kikuchi, of the Japanese Gendarmerie force in Manchuria, on July 27 in the Chinese City of Mukden, it is learned.

According to Japanese officials, the Chinese planned to blow up the American Consulate-General here on May 7; the British Consulate-General on May 12; the Mukden Railway Station on May 31; the tram-car track in front of the Mukden Railway Station on June 4; and the government opium bureau on June 27. Each time the Japanese discovered the plot and thwarted it. The arrested Chinese were handed over to the Mukden police on August 19 after being questioned by the Japanese gendarmerie.

The announcement said that the Chinese also attempted to organise anti-Manchoukuo forces by starting a rebellion among newly-organised Manchoukuo troops. Major-Gen. Pao was reported to have attempted to organise a volunteer corps with 1,000 mounted men at Chinwangtao.

Another group of anti-Manchoukuo Chinese soldiers were arrested on April 8. They were headed by Ling Chin-tung, who formerly belonged to the 21st Route Army of the Northeastern Anti-Japanese National Salvation Army. These men are accused of attempting to blow up the Mukden railway station on January 4 and the waterworks in the S.M.R. zone in Mukden on March 2.

They are reported to have established their headquarters in Sinitung last year together with Chang-Fu-hang, commander of the plainclothes snipers in Manchuria. Chang went to Peking when the Japanese gendarmerie arrested his men on April 8.—United Press.

FORMER MINISTER CHARGED

RELIEF FUNDS USED FOR PARTY

Berlin, Aug. 31. The Public Prosecutor of Berlin opened legal proceedings to-day against Herr Andrew Hermes, who was formerly Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Finance in the Reich Government.

He is charged with continual dishonesty to the disadvantage of the Prussian Agrarian Bank and the German Peasants' Bank.

Herr Hermes is accused of having employed funds destined for the relief of agrarian unions for the benefit of the "Christian Peasants' Association," of which he was chairman.

The ex-minister, who was arrested and taken to a detention house last March, was recently released but has now been brought up for trial once more.

Herr Hermes is a Catholic and was a member of the Centre Party. He was the first post-war Minister of Agriculture in Germany and was Minister of Finance in the Wirth Cabinet during the time of the French occupation of the Ruhr.—Reuter.

HONEYMOON ON DEVIL'S ISLAND

SACRIFICIAL QUEST OF S. A. WORKERS

Paris. Three men and one woman of the Salvation Army recently set sail for the dreaded French convict station of French Guiana, which includes Devil's Island.

They are going into voluntary exile in the cause of humanity and two of them, Captain and Madame Hausdorf, had been only married a week or two previously. The other member of the party is Captain Adjutant Penn.

It is proposed to give a healthy life to discharged convicts who are not allowed to leave the country and to provide material as well as moral comfort for these outcasts. The Salvation Army officers have learned a number of trades, such as soap-making and jam-making, which they hope to be able to teach the convicts, but are not taking out any tools or machinery with them as they must find out which trades will be most appropriate.—Reuter.

MURDERER WHOM LAW CANNOT PUNISH

CONVICT KILLS A MAN IN PRISON

Belgrade. A convict in the gaol at Slavonka Pazhega has killed a man but the law cannot punish him.

He is named Rudolf Bajzek, and, with another man named Holtz, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment for thefts with violence.

They slept in the same cell and worked in the same gang in prison.

But Bajzek always complained that he was innocent, and had been sentenced owing to the false evidence of Holtz.

One day when they were at exercise in the prison yard he stabbed Holtz with a cobbler's knife, killing him.

Death sentence in Yugoslavia is only given for brutal murder or for rape, so the Court could only give Bajzek a life sentence. But a life sentence in Yugoslavia ends after 20 years—and the man had only begun to serve 20 years a short time before.

So the law could not punish him.—Reuter.

MORE BRITISH PLANES

MANUFACTURERS INCREASE OUTPUT

London. Figures which the Air Ministry has published indicate that British aircraft manufacturers are gaining a substantial lead over their foreign rivals. In the European market alone, the total value of British aircraft exports during the past three years was £1,180,482 in excess of those of the United States, Britain's nearest competitor.

Over the complete three-year period, the United States holds a slight lead in the Far East markets, but the position was reversed in 1932, when the value of exports from the United Kingdom to these markets totalled £186,297, compared with £149,663 from the United States.

During the three years covered by the Air Ministry statistics, the United Kingdom aviation exports to other parts of the British Empire exceeded those of the United States by £1,968,170.

Of the total of 2,150 engines exported by the United States last year, 2,010 went to Soviet Russia.—Reuter.

A PRACTICAL MAGISTRATE

CURIOUS PROCEDURE IN PARIS COURT

Paris. M. Daniel Masse, a Paris magistrate, prides himself on being eminently practical.

A woman was brought to his court who had been sued by her dressmaker. She had refused to pay for a dress on the grounds that it did not fit her.

"Case adjourned for to-day," said M. Masse curtly, "and will you please appear before me this day week in the dress in question. I will then decide whether it fits you, next case!"

In the next case a buyer and a wine merchant disputed the quality of some wine.

M. Masse ordered his clerk to pour out a glass for him.

He sipped the bouquet, rolled the wine round his tongue and smacked his lips.

"Damages against the seller," he declared.—Reuter.

CONQUEST OF THE ARCTIC

WITH A NEW TYPE OF ICE-BREAKER

Moscow. A new type of ice-breaker, which can steam 5,000 miles without re-fuelling, has been designed to carry man's conquest of the Arctic a stage further.

It has been planned by a group of Soviet naval engineers, in consultation with experienced ice-breaker captains.

The new ice-breaker, named Cheluskina, has been built in Danish shipyards. It is expected to be ready for a voyage from Archangel to Vladivostok will be made immediately it arrives.

The steamer is intended to hold 75 passengers, a crew of 50, and 2,000 tons of cargo.—Reuter.

LIFE AND DEATH STRUGGLE

GRIMLY ENACTED ON TRAIN

MANIAC AND WARDERS

Cosenza, Italy. A grim life-and-death struggle between a homicidal maniac and two warders in a second class compartment, while the train rocked and swayed over the points at sixty miles an hour, was related when the Naples-Reggio express arrived here.

Francesco d'Angelo, a dangerous lunatic, was being taken to the Nocera Asylum. Leaping to his feet suddenly, he attacked the two warders, who were accompanying him, with bottles.

He smashed a bottle over the head of one of them, almost blinding him, and then attacked the next one.

A fierce fight resulted in the warder being overpowered and seriously injured, but before being overwhelmed he succeeded in pulling the communication cord. As the train stopped passengers ran along the corridor to see what had happened.

They found d'Angelo, snarling with murderous frenzy, brandishing the neck of a broken bottle over the injured warders. When he saw the other passengers, he gave a shout of fury and rushed at them, but was tackled and overwhelmed by an officer of the Fascist Militia.

He was handed over to the police at the next station.—Reuter.

A SOCIAL FUNCTION IN MANILA.

FAREWELL TO MAJ-GENERAL BOOTH BY OFFICERS

The Governor General of the Philippines, Hon. Frank Murphy, and his staff, were to attend a farewell reception at the Despedida of the Army and Navy Club, Manila, last evening, in honour of Major General and Mrs. Ewing Booth.

Major General and Mrs. Booth are leaving the Philippines for San Francisco to-morrow, by the United States Army transport Grant.

The farewell was to be attended by officers and their ladies from all over the Philippines, the Army Officers of the Philippines, and their wives, acting as hosts for the occasion.

The decoration of the Army and Navy Club was supervised by Captain M. M. Capinpin, who has had considerable experience in these matters. A feature of the evening was the massing of the national colours and standards of the various organisations which comprise General Booth's last permanent command.

GOLD STAMPEDE

RUSH TO SELL AT HIGH PRICES

London, Sept. 5. The rush to sell gold has been resumed in consequence of the rise in price of this commodity.

Gold was 130s. 4d. per ounce to-day, having declined from the record set on September 1, when it rose sharply, by 13½d., to 130s. 8½d. But it is still nine pence above parity.

A half million sterling in bullion was taken by the Continent to-day. Dealers are receiving large amounts of jewellery, including many valuable pieces which have been paying safe deposit box rent for many years.

One old gentleman offered several particularly beautiful and costly golden goblets on condition that they should be melted down in his presence. Hiding his emotion, he watched these splendid pieces of craftsmanship destroyed.

This was only one instance of many private tragedies, due to diminishing incomes.—Reuter.

TUBERCULOSIS?

REMARKABLE CLAIM BY PROFESSOR

Berlin. Sensational claims to the discovery of a cure for tuberculosis have been submitted by an American professor here.

Professor John Harthan, of Glendale, California, announces that his research work has revealed a serum, harmless to the patient, which has "never failed" to effect a cure of tuberculosis. He cites the case of a German woman, who having lost an entire lung from the disease, has, it is declared, already started to grow a new lung after injection with the serum.

Professor Harthan intends shortly to open a sanatorium in Berlin.—Reuter.

H.M.S. CORNWALL STRUCK BY TYPHOON

Flying the paying-off pennant, H.M.S. Cornwall returned to Hongkong from her summer cruise to northern waters shortly after noon yesterday.

As she steamed down the harbour to her anchorage, the Cornwall showed practically no signs of the experiences she had undergone in the typhoon that passed inland near Shanghai on Saturday night.

Interviewed aboard the warship, Commander L.M.R. Campbell said that the Cornwall proceeded to Deal Island, near the mouth of the Wangpoo River, when intimation was first received of the approach of the typhoon.

The wind gained in intensity on Saturday afternoon, and, although the Cornwall was between thirty and forty miles from the centre of the disturbance, gusts which exceeded 120 miles an hour were experienced between 8 and 9 p.m.

Two other vessels, a Chinese ship and a Butterfield and Swire steamer, were also obtaining what shelter they could from the low lying islands.

Despite the extremely high velocity of the wind, the strong current kept the Cornwall almost broadside on to the gale, and it was this that was responsible for the loss of the ship's seaplane.

An exceptionally heavy gust tore the upper structure of the seaplane from the wires holding it down to the ship, and carried it overboard.

The full intensity of the typhoon passed by 9 p.m., but extremely gusty weather was experienced practically the whole of the night. With the exception of the loss of the seaplane, no damage was done to the Cornwall, which sailed for Hongkong next day.

The Cornwall will remain in port until Friday morning when she will depart for England for refit and recommission.

Commander Campbell was formerly stationed aboard H.M.S. Kent, and was appointed to H.M.S. Cornwall this year.

AIR RIVALRY

JAPANESE REPORT OF BRITISH AMBITION

Shanghai, Sept. 5. Japanese reports from Tokyo state that General Maurice Cohen (former adviser to the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen), who is in Hongkong, has been authorised to ask Canton's approval of the establishment of a British controlled company to compete with the Pan-American Airways in the Far East.

The report concludes that the Japanese officials are following with close interest "the future development of the Anglo-American air race in South China."—Reuter.

A LORRY DRIVER CHARGED.

SEQUEL TO FATAL SPILL-ON ISLAND ROAD

A mysterious woman on the road is attributed as being the sole cause of a lorry turning over on Island Road on August 24, and killing Li Hing, a coolie, who was seated on the top of a load of fish together with some other coolies.

Police Court proceedings against Lo Leung, the driver of the lorry, were commenced before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, and adjourned for further hearing to this afternoon.

A charge of manslaughter, originally preferred against the defendant, was withdrawn by Sub-Inspector Saunders, of the Traffic Department, who said he had instructions to withdraw this charge and proceed on the other two of dangerous driving and carrying ten passengers in excess.

Mr. Hin-shing Lo, instructed by Mr. J. M. Hall, appeared for the defendant, and tendered a plea of not guilty on both charges.

An result of the manslaughter charge being withdrawn, the case will be dealt with summarily.

Doctor's Evidence. Dr. Thomas, of the Government Civil Hospital, said that the deceased received head injuries, and death was due to fracture of the skull and contusion of the brain.

The injuries were compatible with deceased having been violently flung out of a moving vehicle and striking his head against a wall of rock with projecting points.

After plans of the road at this spot had been submitted, and evidence of identification given by deceased's brother, Tao Leung, a licensed driver, said that he had driven this lorry the previous day, and on previous occasions, but had found no difficulty with the steering. The brakes too were right.

He never had much difficulty in negotiating the particular bend whenever he drove.

In reply to Mr. Lo, witness said that the brakes of the lorry had been readjusted before the last occasion being one month before the accident.

Pang Tim, who was seated beside the driver, said that the lorry started from Stanley about 5.45 a.m. on August 24 for Hongkong with a load of fresh fish. The load was about a foot higher than the sides of the lorry. About ten men boarded the lorry when about to start. These men were all seated in the body of the lorry. He saw no one board the lorry while it was in motion. He did not talk to the driver on the way.

He was not frightened when the lorry went down the hill towards Repulse Bay. He was not thrown from side to side. He did not know how the lorry overturned.

In reply to Mr. Lo, witness said that he did ask the men not to board the lorry in such numbers. He did not give them permission, nor did defendant. He was not paid by these men, nor was he.

SHARK AH-OY!

SIGHTED IN CLEAR WATER BAY ON SATURDAY

A party aboard Mr. A. E. Edgar's yacht had a thrilling experience on Saturday when they were making for Clear Water Bay after a squall. They were just passing an island off the mainland when a shark, stated to be about ten feet in length, was seen following the boat at a distance of about twenty feet. It kept close to the yacht for some time, but as the vessel drew in to the shelter of the cliffs the shark disappeared out in sea again.

There have been several reports of sharks appearing in local waters this year.

CHINESE FLIGHT.

NOTED AIRMAN ON TOUR OF COUNTRY

Nanking, Sept. 5. The Chinese airman, Sun Tung-kang, who took off from Tainan this morning on a tour throughout China, arrived here at 4 p.m. to-day.

Mr. Sun is leaving for Shanghai at 10 a.m. to-morrow.

Mr. Sun recently flew from Berlin to Nanking.—Reuter.

defendant. These men were all owners of fish. He did not notice a woman on the road just before the accident.

"Frightened" Says a Grocer.

Chiu Yeung, master of a grocer's shop at Stanley, said that he boarded the lorry to go to Hongkong to buy goods. He paid nothing as fare. The load was not higher than the sides of the lorry. There were 14 men on the lorry, including the driver and the other man seated with him in the cab. He did not see anyone climb into the lorry while it was in motion. The lorry was travelling down the hill at a speed much faster than the usual speed, and he heard someone shout twice to the driver to reduce speed. He did not hear the driver reply. He was frightened. The supports of the canvas cover swayed when the lorry went round the bends in the road. This did not usually happen. The load of fish too moved first to the left and then to the right just before the accident. The lorry turned over suddenly, and he did not realize how it happened.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lo, witness said that the driver knew he was on the lorry, although he did not tell him. He did not board the lorry while it was in motion, nor did he see nine others do it. He did not see a woman on the road before the accident.

The hearing at this stage was adjourned until this afternoon.

QUAKE TOLL

WHOLE TOWNSHIP DESTROYED

Nanking, Sept. 5.
Belated reports from Szechuan state that tremendous damage has resulted from an earthquake which occurred in north-western Szechuan on August 15.
The districts of Sungtan, Lifan, Moukung, Moushien and Wenchuan, on the upper reaches of the Min River, are the chief sufferers.
The entire township of Tich-chen, for 80 li south and north and 50 li east and to the west, is reported to have caved in entailing great loss of life.

Owing to the severance of communications, damage to property and live stock cannot be assessed; but the earthquake is described as the worst in a century.

A large number of houses and bridges have been wrecked on the highway between Sungtan and Moushien, which has been rendered impassable.

An avalanche of rocks falling into the Min River has caused navigation along the upper reaches to be suspended.—Reuter.

I.G.P. DEALS WITH THE HAWKERS

EFFORT TO STAMP OUT OFFENCES

The Inspector-General of Police has issued a new order in regard to licensed hawkers.
It was disclosed by Sub-Inspector Russell, of the Hawker Sub-Department, in the Central Police Court this morning that the order provides that all licensed hawkers with six or more previous convictions will have their licence cancelled.

"I DON'T LIKE THAT."

Prosecuting a hawker, before Mr. Wynne-Jones this morning on a charge of obstruction in Queen's Road Central, Sergeant Cleathero said he was originally going to charge him for having no licence. It was found at the Hawker's Office that defendant did originally have a licence and so he was charged with obstruction.
Mr. Wynne-Jones: "Get him one way or the other, so to speak, I don't like that." Discharged.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND DISARMAMENT

London, Sept. 5.
The Cabinet to-day sat for four hours beginning in the morning and resuming in the afternoon.
There was practically a full attendance.

It is understood that foreign affairs and disarmament were the principal subjects under examination. The Prime Minister, who presided, afterwards left for his visit to the King and Queen at Balmoral.—British Wire-

British Industries Fair

EXHIBITORS CLAMOUR FOR SPACE

London, Sept. 5.
Although the next British Industries Fair does not take place until the middle of next February, applications have been received by the Department for Overseas Trade for more than 90 per cent. of the space occupied by exhibitors at Olympia and White City at the last fair.

In the heavy industries section at Birmingham, advance bookings of space by exhibitors are so far ahead of those of last year, and indeed of any previous year, that 55,000 square feet of indoor area are being added immediately to meet the pressing demands.

Special activity is reported in gas, electricity, building and engineering groups.—British Wire-

RUSSIANS INSPIRED BY NAZIS

Changchun, Sept. 1.
White Russians in Changchun and Harbin have joined in a war against the Jews.

Inspired by the anti-Jewish activities of the Nazis in Germany, local White Russians have started a campaign to bear in mind their hatred for Jews who they claim, were at the head of the Russian Revolution which drove them from their native country.—Reuter.

CAPTAIN GOERING NOW GENERAL

HIGH RANK FOR MINISTER

Berlin, Aug. 31.
President von Hindenburg to-day appointed Captain Herman Goering, the Prussian Premier and Reich Minister of Aviation, to the rank of general in the Prussian infantry in recognition of his "services for the liberation of Germany."

Captain Goering's promotion seems an extraordinary step illustrative of the feelings of unlimited confidence and gratitude which the President entertains for him.

Heretofore, there have been only two cases when officers of minor rank were raised to that of general. They were Prince Bismarck, "the Iron Chancellor" then Premier and a lieutenant, who was made a general by his commander-in-chief, while Wilhelm II, following the example of his grandfather, undertook a similar step with regard to his own Chancellor, Theobald von Bethmann Hollweg.—Reuter.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

CAPT. EDEN TO GO TO PARIS

London, Sept. 5.
The Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Capt. Anthony Eden will go to Paris later this month for a conversation with the French Government on various points which arose at the Disarmament Conference during the first reading of the British draft convention.

Mr. Norman Davis, the United States Delegate to the Conference will be in London to-morrow, and will see Sir John Simon at the Foreign Office.—British Wireless.
